

The foundation of our Great Country the United States of America: belief in God, the Almighty, and America's Founding Father and Patriot, through our country's history, believed that a widespread faith in God was the true source of America's greatness."

Alexander Hamilton's last dying words on July 12, 1804, states quote: " I have tender reliance on the mercy of the Lord Jesus Christ. I am a sinner. I look to him for mercy; pray for me."

Patrick Henry's last will and testament on November 20, 1798 states quote: "This is all the inheritance I give to my dear family. The religion of Christ will give them one which will make them rich indeed."

George Washington our first president on Oct. 3, 1789, Proclaim a National Day of Prayer, and stated: "It is the duty of all nation to acknowledge to Providence of Almighty God, to obey his will, to be grateful for his benefits, and to humbly implore his protection and favor."

John Adams 1756 America's second President states quote:

"Suppose a nation in some distant region should take the Bible for their only Law Book, and member should regulate this conduct by the precepts there exhibited... What a paradise would this region be."

"If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering and to prosper; but if we and our posterity neglect its instructions and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury all our glory in profound obscurity." Daniel Webster 1821	"We have been assured, Sir, in the Sacred Writings, that 'except the Lord build the House, they labor in vain that build it.' I firmly believe this; and I also believe that without His concurring aid we shall succeed in this political building no better than the builders of Babel." Benjamin Franklin Statement he made at the Constitutional Convention June 28, 1787
"It is fit and becoming in all people, at all times, to acknowledge and revere the Supreme Government of God;	"God who gave us life and liberty. And can the liberties of a nation be thought secure when we have to bow in humble submission to His chastisement; to confess and deplore their sins and transgressions in the full conviction that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom; and to pray, with all fervency and contrition, for the pardon of their past offenses, and for a blessing upon their present and prospective action."

Abraham Lincoln Declaring a National Day of Prayer and Fasting following the Battle of Bull Run removed their only firm basis, a conviction in the minds of the people that these liberties are a gift of God? That they are not to be violated but with His wrath? Indeed, I tremble for my country when I reflect that God is just; that His justice cannot sleep forever."

Thomas Jefferson 1781

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. That they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Declaration of Independence 1776

"Our laws and our institutions must necessarily be based upon the teachings of the Redeemer of Mankind. It is impossible that it should be otherwise; and in this sense and to this extent, our civilization and our institutions are emphatically Christian."

U. S. Supreme Court 1892
