§ 2332b(g)(5)(B) lists approximately fifty offenses that may constitute RICO predicate offenses under 18 U.S.C. § 1961(1)(G).and the following offenses:

Chapter 113B of title 18 (18 U.S.C. § 2331 et seq.) sets forth the crimes of terrorism, including acts of terrorism across national boundaries. Under current law, certain terrorism crimes can be prosecuted by the United States regardless of where they are committed. For example, section 2333b (terrorism transcending national boundaries) and section 2332a (use of weapons of mass destruction). There are, however, no explicit extraterritorial provisions in other statutes that may be violated by terrorists.

Section 1962(c) makes it a crime to conduct the affairs of an enterprise affecting interstate or foreign commerce “through” a pattern of racketeering activity or through the alternative theory of collection of an unlawful debt.

Section 1962(d) makes it a crime to conspire to commit any of the three substantive RICO offenses.

State Offenses

Section 1961(1)(A) defines racketeering activity as follows: any act or threat involving murder, kidnaping, gambling, arson, robbery, bribery, extortion, dealing in obscene matter, or dealing in a controlled substance or listed chemical (as defined in section 102 of the Controlled Substances Act) [i.e., 21 U.S.C. § 802], which is chargeable under State law and punishable by imprisonment for more than one year.

This statute added 18 U.S.C. § 1589 (forced labor), 18 U.S.C. § 1590 (trafficking with respect to peonage, slavery, involuntary servitude, or forced labor), and 18 U.S.C. § 1591 (sex trafficking of children or by force, fraud, or coercion) as RICO predicate offenses in Section 1961(1)(B).

“extortion” and “coercion,” stating:

extortion requires that one “obtains [the] property of another” using threat as “the method employed to deprive the victim of his property.” This “obtaining” is further explained as

““bring[ing] about a transfer or purported transfer of a legal interest in the property, whether to the obtainer or another.”” Coercion, on the other hand, is defined as making “specified categories of threats . . . with the purpose of unlawfully restricting another’s freedom of action to his detriment.”

Mail fraud,

used fictitious and fake name

Under the federal drug statutes, marijuana is considered a controlled substance but not a narcotic drug. Section 1961(1)(D) substituting “controlled substance or listed chemical” for “narcotics or other dangerous drug.” Thus, a marijuana offense occurring after the 1994 amendment is a proper RICO predicate. Offenses occurring prior to the 1994 amendment may be proper RICO predicates as well: court decisions addressing the propriety of a pre-1994 marijuana offense as a RICO predicate have held in the Government’s favor.⁴⁸ Accordingly, it is the position of the Criminal Division that marijuana offenses may be proper RICO predicates.⁴⁹

Another issue that has arisen in RICO cases involving federal narcotics offenses is whether mere possession of illegal narcotics for personal consumption is a RICO predicate. At least one court has held that such mere possession is not a proper RICO predicate, but that possession with intent to distribute is a proper RICO predicate. United States v. Darden, 70 F.3d 1507, 1524 (8th Cir. 1995), cert. denied, 517 U.S. 1149 (1996). The Organized Crime and Racketeering Section will not approve possession of a de minimis amount of drugs as a RICO predicate. Possession of a larger amount may be approved if it could be inferred from the quantity and other relevant facts that the drugs were for distribution and not merely for personal consumption.

Representative cases charging federal generic predicate offenses:¹¹ (relating to bankruptcy fraud) States v. Weisman, 624 F.2d 1118 (2d Cir.), cert. denied, 449 U.S. 871

Immigration and Nationality Act Offenses

Section 1961(1)(F), added by several amendments in 1996, includes as racketeering activity: any act which is indictable under the Immigration and Nationality Act, i.e., section 274 (relating to bringing in and harboring certain aliens), section 277 (relating to aiding or assisting certain aliens to enter the United States), or section 278 (relating to importation of aliens for immoral purposes) if the act indictable under such section of such Act was committed for the purpose of financial gain.

These violations are codified, respectively, at 8 U.S.C. §§ 1324, 1327 and 1328. See also discussion of ex post facto issues arising from such amendments in Section VI(F)(4) below.

News Release of June 13, 2011

Final Analysis of President Obama's Certificate of Live Birth

By Douglas Vogt

Re: Legal proof that President Obama's Certificate of Live Birth is a forgery.

Dear Sir/Madam,

I have irrefutably proven that the Certificate of Live Birth that President Obama presented to the world on April 27, 2011 is a fraudulently created document put together using the Adobe Photoshop or Illustrator or other graphic programs on a Mac OS computer and the creation of this forgery of a public document constitutes a class B felony in Hawaii and multiple violations under U.S. Code Title 18, Part 1, Chapter 47, Sec.1028, and therefore an impeachable offense. When this comes to the public's attention, it will be the greatest scandal in the country's history—nothing comes even close. This will surpass all previous scandals including the Watergate scandal of the Nixon administration.

My Credentials

I have a unique background that enables me to analyze this document in a competent, detailed, and extensive manner. I owned a typesetting company (Nova Typesetting) for eleven years, and thus have extensive knowledge and experience in type and form design. I have owned Archive Index Systems since 1993, a company that sells a wide selection of document scanners worldwide, and which also developed and sold document imaging software (TheRepository). Additionally, I have an extensive knowledge of how scanners function and their capabilities. I have also sold other document imaging programs, such as Laser Fiche, Liberty and Alchemy. I have sold and installed document imaging systems in city and county governments, and thus have extensive knowledge of municipal and county document imaging programs and procedures, including the design and implementation of such programs. Additionally, I have a good working knowledge of Adobe Photoshop and Illustrator. These factors will be crucial in understanding what has occurred with Obama's Certificate of Live Birth.

What President Obama Presented to the Public is an alleged Certificate of Live Birth.

What President Obama presented is not the hospital birth certificate. In most states the hospital birth certificate would have the imprint of the baby's footprint, weight, length and other information.

Most hospitals take a footprint of the baby before the baby even leaves the birthing room. This is done to establish positive identification. In my state of Washington, the religion of the parents is even identified on the hospital birth certificate. The birth certificate would be the source of the same information that would be typed onto the Certificate of Live Birth (the Long Form, COLB).

What

President Obama released was supposedly a copy of the Long Form that the county gets from the hospital, which is typed on a blank form and given a the hospitals by the county. That copy is then mailed to the county Board of Health and kept as a legal government document. On Obama's form

(see Figure 1) the County Clerk supposedly hand stamped the form on the upper right hand corner with a Bates number stamp. The number is a sequential number that reflects the sequence of Certificates that come into the County Health Department on a daily basis. The number was most likely stamped by hand because the number is crooked. The County Clerk also hand stamps the date of acceptance in boxes 20 and 22. Obama's Long Form was supposedly received on August 8, 1961, four days after his birth. The County Clerk would then sign the certificate (box 21) with his or her complete legal name, no initials.

dated August 8, 1961.

Nordyke dated August 11, 1961.

There are four important things wrong with the White House story of how they acquired the Certificate of Live Birth from the Department of Health on April 25, 2011 and with the document they presented to the country on April 27, 2011. There was a prepress conference at 8:48 a.m. about an hour before President Obama gave his news conference. The 8:48 a.m. press conference was given by Mr. Carney the Press Secretary, Mr. Dan Pfeiffer the Director of Communications and Mr.

Robert Bauer the President's White House Counsel (now resigned). In that press conference Mr. Bauer gave the impression that it was a difficult process to get the President a Long Form Certificate of Live Birth but when I examined the Hawaii law (Appendix B) §338-13 states "the department of health shall [my emphasis], upon request, furnish to any applicant a certified copy of any certificate, or the contents of any certificate, or any part thereof." Further §338-18 Disclosure of records section list a great number of parties who would have a right to get such a form including: "The registrant;"

"A person or agency acting on behalf of the registrant"; and "A governmental agency or organization who for a legitimate government purpose maintains and needs to update official lists of persons in the ordinary course of the agency's or organization's activities." The three I have listed here the White House Attorney could have easily used to demand a certified copy of the Long Form Certificate of Live Birth. There were over twenty different types of individuals or agencies who could have legally requested these certificates with little difficulty.

The second major problem is Mr. Pfeiffer's admission that they had received two stamped and sealed copies of the COLB from Hawaii. This was revealed when a reporter asked Mr. Pfeiffer:

"Q You've got two certified copies, according to this study. You have these physical --

MR. PFEIFFER: Yes. I showed you one. Just one.

Q You showed us a photocopy of one.

MR. PFEIFFER: No, I showed you --

Q Does that have a stamp?

MR. PFEIFFER: It has a seal on it.”

The White House Press Corps had received a packet with a black and white copy of the COLB but it did not display any security paper design in the background. The only place it faintly showed up was in the grayscale side bar on the left where the page curved down. The question is: Why did the White House reproduce a grayscale copy with no background green color? The answer will become obvious later but first I needed to discover how they did it. There are two ways to drop out a color. One way is to just use a dropout filter on your color scanner and green is one of the colors that can be dropped out. The second way is to first export the image out of the PDF file as a tiff or jpg format then to bring it into Photoshop or Illustrator and adjust the color balance, the brightness and contrast. Next I had to select all the type and line elements in the picture and copy that but not copy the background remnant color. The next step was to open a new document file and import it into the new page as a grayscale image. I did final adjustments to the background and contrast and the end result is the same as what the White House gave the Press Corp. The question is: Why did they go to such trouble to do this? Now comes the next part of the mystery.

Earlier that morning Savannah Guthrie, a reporter from MSNBC and their legal adviser, stated “I saw the certified copy of long-form POTUS birth certificate today, felt the raised seal [my emphasis], snapped this pic[tur]e. And here is the wider shot I took of the birth certificate.” Her photo (see Figure A) of the document showed the left and right hand sides of the document so I knew that was 8.5" wide. This security paper is commercially available and is called Green 8½x11;

24 lb. basketweave security paper. I was then able to determine the scale of all the components on the form. I have gone into greater detail in #6 below but the end result is that the seal she saw and supposedly felt was only 1¾" in diameter. The legal seal (See #6 for the Hawaii statute) is supposed to be 2¼" in diameter and hence not a legal seal. There was a surprise in this discovery. The current Department of Health seal is not the same one they had in the 1960s. That one was 2¼" in diameter

(see Figure 18) but the Obama COLB seal is not legal—it's the wrong size! The Obama seal, besides the size problem, is not legible. You cannot make out any of the words, the stars or the Caduceus therefore we do not know if it's even the Department's seal. Savannah Guthrie was used by the administration to verify a document that was fraudulently created.

This is why I think the administration created a grayscale image of the COLB for the Press Corps people and also had Savannah Guthrie see a color picture with a seal embossing on it. The White house knew they had a problem with the seal being too faint and the wrong size so they made it impossible for the news people to see any evidence of a seal but they chose a lawyer from a very sympathetic news agency, MSNBC to verify a seal was there. I will assume Ms. Guthrie had no idea the news conference that morning was about the Certificate of Live Birth. I will assume she did not know the correct size of the Hawaiian Department of Health's seal and didn't think anything of it.

The administration used her to verify to the rest of the Press Corps that there was a seal on the form and may have damaged her credibility as a news reporter.

The third major problem is: Was there in fact two different Certificates received from the Hawaii Department of Health? The following information was brought to my attention by another researcher, Robert Moore. He had noticed that both the rubber stamped signature of the State Registrar (see Figure B and Figure 23) and date stamp were in the exact same placement on the

Certificate Guthrie saw as well as the Certificate that the reporters and the public saw generated by the PDF on the White House web site later that afternoon. If we take the administrations word that they had two signed and sealed certificates (COLB) then it is impossible to have both certificates have two applied rubber stamps on it in the exact same position and location. In fact Robert Moore had made a transparency of the web site PDF and overlaid it over the Savannah Guthrie photo and they matched perfectly. I had checked his work by measuring it using the ruler feature in Photoshop and found that they were exact. This is impossible with hand stamped forms.

The Forth item is very strange and it involves the "A" in the Registrar's signature on both forms.

The Guthrie Form (see Figure B) shows no added character under the Capital A in Alvin but the other Certificate form the Press Corps and the public PDF has a mysterious italic "E" under the capital "A". It means either we have two documents both with problems #2 and 3. Or we have really one document produced from a common PDF file that they later put the italic "E" under the capital

Brief History of Document Archiving and Document Imaging

Before document imaging came into being in the late 1980s, documents like these were archived and stored in post-bound books (post binders). During the April 27, 2011 8:48 am press conference, just before the President spoke, White House Counsel Robert Bauer reaffirmed that by stating: "It is in a bound volume in the records at the state Department of Health in Hawaii."

Many times they would be microfilmed flat (not in a binder) and stored on reels or microfiche besides the originals. Figure 2 shows an example of a microfilmed Certificate of Live Birth for a person born one day after (August 5) Barack Obama in the same Kapiolani Maternity & Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org>

Gynecological Hospital. Since we have an example of a microfilmed Long Form then it is safe to say that all Certificates in that period were microfilmed and still available for inspection as well as the original paper copy. Also these Certificates were embossed with the County's department seal (see Figure 21) as well as signed.

The Federal Government, to standardize law and security features, prevent fraud and detect terrorists, Passed The Federal Minimum Standards for Birth Certificates in 2004; Title 7, Sec. 7211(a)-(d), (See Appendix C for the entire law citation) Which states:

“(b) Standards for Acceptance by Federal Agencies. -

"(1) In general. - Beginning 2 years after the promulgation of minimum standards under paragraph (3), no Federal agency may accept a birth certificate for any official purpose unless the certificate conforms to such standards.

“(2) State certification. -

“(A) In general. - Each State shall certify to the Secretary of Health and Human Services that the State is in compliance with the requirements of this section.

In addition the Federal law clearly states that the Secretary of Health and Human Services may conduct periodic audits of each State's compliance with the requirements of this section. The purpose of the law was to standardize the formats and security features on birth and death records to prevent fraud and detect terrorists. The law also makes it clear that the Federal Government wanted the states to computerize their source documents, which also meant scanning them into a document imaging system. In Appendix C I have highlighted in red, the important sections of the law.

“(D) Audits. - The Secretary of Health and Human Services may conduct periodic audits of each State's compliance with the requirements of this section.

One of the reasons I mentioned the Federal law is because when President Obama gave his news conference, presenting his alleged Certificate of Live Birth, he stated that they had to get special permission to get a copy of his Certificate. His statement appears to be blatantly wrong because these are public documents and he could have requested a copy himself at any time as well as his Secretary of Health and Human Services could have audited the County's records and gotten a copy any time they wanted.

I do not know when the Hawaii Health Department acquired and implemented a document imaging system but it had to be within two years of the enactment of this law. Let me explain the process whereby the Long Form Certificates would have been scanned in. When a county or city institutes a document imaging system, it would start scanning their documents into the system. If the forms are all just type and lines, it would most likely be scanned in as binary images (black pixel or white pixel). If there are photos or other halftone graphics on the page, it may be scanned in as a grayscale which consists of 256 levels of gray going from 0 for white to 255 for black. If there is color on the documents, they may scan them in as color images, but color images are large and impractical to store significant amount of them on the server. The legitimate forms done by the Hawaii Board of Health were scanned in using both grayscale and binary modes. The reason I know this is because I found both methods used on the forms. You cannot have both on an original scanned image from an original.

I should also mention that most document imaging programs save the images as Group IV TIFFs because they produce the best compressed file size. Later programs will also let you put PDFs and other file formats into the database but they are not created by the scanning program but rather existing PDF files created external to the scanning program.

Some of the information on the Long Form is also put into government databases that are used to produce the short form version of the Certificate of Live Birth.

Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org>

Document imaging systems use a database engine to store the database fields and file locations.

Some of the popular databases used are Oracle or Microsoft's Sequel Server. The database is used by the clerks to perform data searches.

The images would be stored on the server at a specific location and the file name would be a series of number and letters. The image would include the correct file origination date (the system date of the server with time added). All imaging programs will let the clerk export an image out and save it in a different location or give it to someone else. The original would still be in the file server.

If the Clerk had permission on the server and/or imaging program they could also delete the original image and replace it with another, but the origination date for the image file on the server would be newer than the original. So if there was a real Obama Certificate of Live Birth on the server and for some reason someone wanted to alter it, the new image file would have a newer system date. If there was never a legitimate Obama Certificate of Live Birth entered into the system, then the fraudulent one would have a much newer origination date. System dates on servers are usually controlled by clocks outside the server and usually online. Usually the only person who has full access to the server is the system administrator in the IT department. No clerk would or should have that kind of access.

There would also be a database record that contains the file name of the image in the server with its correct location. The program would also have an audit trail that records who logged on, the time, what the person added, deleted, entered, searched for and even the IP address of the PC the person logged into. All of these records are public records that any member of the public can request a copy of. That is true here in Washington State but it is more restrictive in Hawaii. If the County Health Department gets a request for a Long Form, the clerk would search for the name in the document imaging program. When the program finds the correct name, the image of the Certificate of Live Birth would appear on the screen, which the clerk would print out on a laser printer on some type of security paper which is green in the case of Obama's Certificate (see Figure 1). That is what we are led to believe from what Obama presented on television to the public on April 27, 2011.

What I Discovered about Obama's Certificate of Live Birth and why it is a Forgery.

What the Obama administration released is a PDF image that they are trying to pass off as a Certificate Live Birth Long Form printed on green security paper by the County Health Department, but this form is a created forgery. Ironically the country has a lot to thank Mr. Donald Trump and Mr. Jerome Corsi and his new book, Where's the Birth Certificate?, because they made President Obama's birth certificate a public issue which in turn forced the White House to produce this forgery to answer both of them. The Obama Certificate of Live Birth Long Form is a forgery for the following reasons.

1. Curved and non-curved type. The image we are looking at was scanned in grayscale and some part in binary which cannot be on the same image. The reason I know this is because of the shadowing along the gutter (left-hand side) is produced by scanning in grayscale. It also means that the county employee, who did the original scanning of all the forms, did not take the individual pages out of the post binders. The result is that all the pages in that book display a parallax distorted image of the lines and type. They curve and drop down to the left. If you look at line 2 (see Figure 3) on the form that says Sex you will notice the letters drop down one pixel but the typed word Male does not. Also notice the line just below Male drops down 3 pixels.

The second incident of this parallax problem is seen in line 6c Name of Hospital or Institution (see Figure 4). The word Name drops down 2 pixels, but the typed hospital name, Kapiolani, does not drop down at all, and again the line just below drops down 2 pixels, but not the name Kapiolani.

Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org>

The conclusion you must come to is that the typed in form was superimposed over an existing original Certificate of Live Birth form. In fact, since I found some of the form headings scanned in as binary and grayscale, the form itself is a composite but the person who created it did not flatten the image of the blank form and save it as one file before they started placing the typewriter text on the composite form. The individual(s) who perpetrated this forgery could not evidently find a blank form in the clerks imaging database, so they were forced to clean up existing forms and overlay the typewriter type we see here. The forger was also looking for certificates with the correct stamped dates and that is why I think they used more than one original form. At first I wondered why the forger didn't just typeset the entire form from scratch and overlay the type and not have to worry about the parallax problem. Then I remembered that in the early 1960s there was no phototypesetting and this form was set in hot metal from a linotype machine. The type design I think is Times Roman but they could never replicate the exact design. They were stuck having to use existing forms that were scanned in using binary and grayscale.

Figure 4. Line 6c at 500%. The typewriter name of the hospital does not drop down 2 pixels.

2. There is a white haloing around all the type on the form. Figure 5 is an example of this. This effect should not appear on a scanned grayscale image. Figure 6 is a grayscale image scanned in at 240 dpi. You will notice that there is no haloing effect around the type and also the security pattern is seen through the type. Figure 7 is a color image where you can clearly see the security green color through the type and no haloing. Figure 8 shows a Black and White (binary) image of the same type.

The important thing to remember is that you cannot have grayscale and binary on the same scan unless the image is a composite. This means that different components of the whole image are made up of smaller parts. Figure 9 is an enlarged version of Figure 6 showing what grayscale letters should look like compared to binary.

The next question would be: What would have caused the haloing effect? We know that all the original Certificates of Live Birth (COLB) were microfilmed because we can see the Nordyke Certificate (see Figure 2) was microfilmed. Then some time after 2004 the paper original copies, in post binder books, were scanned using a commercial document scanner with a flatbed, scanned as grayscale images. The forger was working with two types of images. He/she may have used images printed from the microfilmed copy and then scanned the printout in grayscale. At that point the forger would have to invert the image so as to have a white background, black type. Figure 10 is an example of an inverted image of Figure 2. The result would be like Figure 9 but a whiter background. The image I am working with in Figure 10 is only 94 DPI but the forger was working with much higher resolution (≥ 240 dpi). At that point the forger converted the grayscale to a binary image and placed it onto the background form image. The problem was that there were still values for the pixels around the placed type so when he/she placed the type image over the background and instructed the program to bring the type "forward" it blanked out the background image, hence the haloing effect around the type.

3. The Obama Certificate is loaded with both binary and grayscale letters which is just another smoking gun that this form is a forgery. It appears the lines and some of the boxes were scanned using grayscale, but only some of the form headings were grayscale and sometimes it is only some letters. Figure 11 and Figure 4 give one example. You will notice that the H and, al, in Hospital, I in Institution, If and again the h and l in hospital were grayscale images, but the rest of the line is binary. The typewriter line below was scanned in as a binary image. I can also tell you for certainty that the form type was scanned in at a lower resolution (≤ 200 dpi). This is because of the size of the pixels on the letters were such that the openings on the a and s on the first line are not visible and filled in. This may also further indicate that forger took some of the type images from the microfilmed copies.

Another example is found in form box 1a, his name BARACK for some reason the “R” is a grayscale image and the rest is binary (see Figure 13). That means the “R” was originally on the form and the rest was not until it was added.

The question again is: Why did the forger leave some grayscale type images on the form and not just erase the whole form? The answer is that he/she needed the grayscale images to re-establish the baseline of the type for the superimposed binary type. This also told me that the forger was an experienced graphic artist.

Figure 14. The last “1” is grayscale, but the rest are binary.

Another example is the Certificate number itself (see Figure 14). The last “1” on the form is a grayscale image but the rest of the numbers are not. It also has a different baseline. This is just another example of a cut and paste job. It also means we do not know what the real Certificate number is if there even is one. There are other form boxes that display the same feature, boxes: 5b, 7e, 11, 13, 16, 18a.

4. The Sequential Number is a fraud. I would like you to refer back to Figures 1 and 2. You will notice that Barack Obama was supposed to have been born on Friday at 7:24 p.m. August 4, 1961 and the local registrar supposedly accepted it on Tuesday August 8, 1961 and hand stamped the Certificate number “61 10641.” Then notice that the other Certificate of Susan E. Nordyke was born on Saturday at 2:12 p.m. August 5, 1961 and another registrar date stamped it on August 11, but her Certificate number is “61 10637.” Susan Nordyke was a twin and her sister’s Certificate number is 61 10638. Keep in mind there would be only one Bates stamp machine in the office so the numbers would all be unique. There cannot be any duplicates so every Certificate has a unique serial number.

Obama’s Certificate would have most likely been mailed on the following Monday, the 7th and received by the Clerk Tuesday the 8th. Susan Nordyke and her sister’s Certificates looks like they were mailed sometime earlier that week and not accepted until the 11th but Susan has a Certificate four numbers less than Obama’s. It is impossible to have Obama’s Certificate number to be four numbers higher than a Certificate that came in three days later.

As stated in #3 the last “1” on the form is a grayscale image but the rest of the numbers are not (see Figure 14). You will also notice that the baseline of the last “1” is straight and level but the rest of the numbers are slanted. This is again irrefutable proof that the Certificate number is a composite of two numbers and hence a forgery. This forgery comes under a separate offense and carries with it

5-years in prison [see Appendix D: Title 19, Ch.47, Sec, 1028(d)(1)].

The facts I have shown you in #3 and 4 tell me several things about how this forgery was assembled. 1. Some person(s) in the Health Department, who had access to the document imaging program, searched the database for someone close to the actual birth date of Obama and found someone near the 4th of August, if in fact he was born on the 4th and we should not assume that at all.

Obama may have chosen the 4th of August because they had a baby who died close to his date of birth. The clerk may have cross referenced the death database to find someone who had died and had a birth date close to Obama's. It has been reported that an infant girl named Virginia Sunahara was born on August 4, 1961 at Wahiawa Hospital in Wahiawa, Oahu, HI who died on August 5, 1961 at the Kapiolani Women and Children's Medical Center, due to complications. This happens to coincide with the date of birth and birthplace of the Nordyke twins. We could make two assumptions here. 1. Wahiawa Hospital customarily would have completed the COLB form and mailed it to the County Health Department; and 2. Kapiolani Medical Center would have filled out the death certificate. The other less likely scenario could be that her medical records were transferred to Kapiolani Hospital and they would produce the birth certificate and later the death certificate which was later included in the group of birth certificates that contained the Nordyke twins.

The Federal Government wanted the States to cross reference the birth and death databases so the database would have that information. The date stamps have two different colors and sizes (see #5 below) which indicates that both dates came from different Certificates. We can conclude from this that more than one person was involved in the Hawaii Department of Health in assembling the different components that were used: 1. Someone to conduct the database searches to find the right

Certificates to create the fraudulent Certificate of Live Birth; and 2. Someone who signed or stamped the fraudulent certificate. I believe that after all the components were assembled they were then given to a graphic artist to actually assemble the whole thing and create the finished forgery. That graphic artist could be located anywhere. In short this was a multi-state conspiracy to defraud the United States.

5. Two different colors in Form box 22 and 20 Date Accepted by Reg. General. What is very revealing about this box and date entry is there are two different colors on both lines where there should be no color at all. Both lines were scanned using binary mode, but I see two different colors

(see Figure 15). What I think this shows us is that the person who put this fraud together was looking for a form that had the right date namely “August 8 19_1.” As you can see the only things that are printed in dark green (R=71, G=92, B=73) are “Date A” and “AUG -8 6.” The rest of the type is in black. This tells me that the forger was working in color mode and what they copied from had a color value for some reason unless they put a color value on it.

The same thing is found in form box 20 “Date Accepted by Local Reg.” Figure 16 again shows that the date has two different colors. The “AUG -8 196” is in dark green (R=87, G=111, B=87) and the “1” is in black. Yet again another irrefutable proof this form is a forgery. Form box 14TH-A displays the same two color image in the word “None”. The “Non” is in dark green.

6. The official seal is not part of the Certificate of Live Birth and they used the wrong size impression of a seal. The Hawaiian law (Section 11-1-2 Seal of the Department of Health) states:

a) The official seal of the department of health shall be circular in shape, two and one-fourth inches in diameter. At the curve on the top portion there shall be the words “DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH” and at the curve on the bottom portion there shall be the words "STATE OF HAWAII." At the curve on each side portion shall be a star. In the center of the seal shall be the Caduceus, a winged rod entwined with two serpents, which has long been recognized as a universal symbol of medicine. The Caduceus shall be encircled by an indentation, which shall separate it from the words "DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH" and

"STATE OF HAWAII."

The first Certification of Live Birth Obama the candidate produced in June of 2008 was the "Short Form" of the COLB. It had the Department of Health's seal embossed on it (see Figure 17) appearing on it about 1.8" from the bottom of the 11 inch paper. That told me the Health Department is using an electric embosser, which applies ample pressure to leave a clear visible embossment.

Hand seal embossers have only 7/8" or less from the edge of the paper for a 1 3/4" seal. The Health Department seal does not appear obvious on the Obama COLB. A good embossment will distort the type and lines on a form and is clearly visible (see Figure 21). Even on the Nordyke Certificate (see

19 shows Obama's seal on the COLB presented on April 27, 2011, and is visible only because a color filter was used to see it, otherwise it completely disappears in the design of the security paper

COLB From April 27, 2011. an original COLB from 1962.

The official seal on the Obama COLB is a second or even third generation image from another form. The seal embossing did not distort the lines or type on the form and it most likely was never part of his Certificate. We cannot make out any of the type on the seal as well as the two stars and the Caduceus. The distorted background image of a seal can be created using Photoshop or Illustrator by applying it as a watermark. Yet another indication this Certificate of Live Birth is an obvious forgery.

If that wasn't enough I then investigated the size of the latent seal image on the Obama certificate and found it to measure only about $1\frac{3}{4}$ " in diameter. The procedure I used to discover the seal measurements were as follows: With the Savannah Guthrie photo (see Figure A) of the document I was able to see the left and right hand sides of the document and knew that was $8\frac{1}{2}$ " wide. I was then able to determine the scale of all the components on the form. I then measured the line length on the second line from the bottom. Box 20, 21 and 22 rest on. That length is 6.396" long, measured from the first bold vertical line on the left side of the form to the end of the line (see Figure 22). I then adjusted all the images I had for Certificates including non-Obama Certificates, which I had.

What I found was that the alleged embossed seal on the Obama COLB were all $1\frac{3}{4}$ " in diameter and that is not the legal seal as described by Hawaii state law, which should be $2\frac{1}{4}$ ". The administration has the wrong size seal on their certificate and that seal was supposed to be a first generation full size imprint.

measured only $1\frac{7}{8}$ " in diameter.

I then examined Certificates of other individuals that I found on the internet. Figure 23 is of a Certification short form of Patricia Decosta dated 2002 and it is also $1\frac{3}{4}$ ". As stated in the Hawaii state code, it must be 2.25” in diameter. The current Department of Health seal is not the same one they had in the 1960s. That one was 2¼” in diameter (see Figure 18) but the current seal is not legal—it’s the wrong size and the type is not legible! You cannot make out any of the words, the stars or the Caduceus. I will be notifying the Department of Health of their gross error in the hope they will fit it with a new legal seal. Some time after 1966 the original legal seal was “lost” or stolen because they do not wear out. Some bureaucrat ordered a replacement and was either ignorant of the law or too stupid to ask if there was a specific requirement for the seal. What mystifies me is that the Director of the Department of Health and the registrars did not spot the error and fix it. My conclusion is they just didn’t care about the law.

7. The hand stamped certification from the current registrar is a forged stamped notice.

The Department of Health has the right to produce a legal copy of the original Certificate of Live Birth for people who have the appropriate right to receive one. The Clerk in the office would search the document imaging database and retrieve the correct Certificate. The Clerk would then print out the tiff image on the green security paper. They would then take a rubber stamp that states the following: I CERTIFY THIS IS A TRUE COPY OR ABSTRACT OF THE RECORD ON FILE IN THE HAWAII STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH. Then below this notice would be the likeness of the State Registrar’s signature, in this case it was Alvin T. Onaka, Ph.D. Then the clerk would stamp the date to the left of the certification. See Figure 24 for a Certificate done one month before the Obama’s April 25, 2011 Certificate. Please note that since it is a hand stamp the certificate stamp is skewed up on the right side.

Now let us look at Obama’s Certificate (see Figure 25) supposedly done on Aril 25, 2011. Notice the registrar’s rubber stamp has an error on the word “the” which reads “TXE,” but this error does not show up on the same rubber stamp used one month before. In Figure 26 you will see an enlargement of the word. You will notice that the “X” had been created by the graphic artist by filling in pixels so it appears like an “X” but it really is not. Also notice that the whole stamp is too straight on the form. The red lines drawn under two of the lines of type are aligned with the pixels.

The stamp rises only two pixels over 3”. My conclusion is that the whole stamp was placed there by the graphic artist to look as straight as possible. The only problem is that no hand stamped notice like this would be placed that perfect on the page.

Other investigators have mentioned what looks like an italic "E" under the capital "A" in Alvin.

In Figure 24 the same artifact does not appear. This artifact also does not show up on the Savannah

Guthrie photo but does appear on all the other copies and PDFs the White House displayed. We have to assume either the artifact was already on the security image the forger used, and forgot to erase it, or it was placed there deliberately for some reason that we don't know yet.

8. Forged signatures of the Mother and Registrar. Forgery of a signature occurs in three ways. The old methods were someone would practice signing another's signature until they got good at it. Another was to simply trace the signature from a previously known signature. The new way is to find a signature and scan it into a computer. Then place that signature, or parts of a signature, onto the desired form or check. The signature of the mother, Ann Dunham Obama in Box 18a is made up of two images. The "Ann D" is in grayscale and the rest of her name is a binary image. The signature of the registrar U"K"Lee is also made up of the same image types. The "K" really looks like "IL" and the I is a binary image and the rest of his name is grayscale. That means the I was added in another layer. Both errors can be seen included in Figure 27. Irrefutable proof the Obama Certificate is a forgery.

9. Multiple layers in the PDF file from the White House. I am not the first one to find this fact and they deserve the credit for discovering it. What they discovered is that when you open up the PDF file in Adobe Illustrator and you turn on layers, you see a long list of nine different layers that correspond to different sections of the form, including the signatures on the form. Figure 27 shows the layer that contains most of the typewriter and form text. I discovered using just my Adobe Acrobat 8 Standard that I could also see the different components disappear when I enlarged the image to just 400% and used the "hand" tool to quickly move around the image. When I moved the image fast, the various type components would disappear from the form but the lines stayed just as I had concluded. I also opened up the White House PDF file in WordPad so I could see the codes and headers in the file. There I discovered the evidence for the nine layers embedded in the code (see below). The big surprise I discovered was that the file was finished or created on April 27, 2011 at 12:09 pm and the copy I had downloaded from the White House web site was modified on April 28, 2011 at 9:58 am, the day after the news conference. The whole White House story that the President had his Seattle-based lawyer fly to Hawaii and pick up two signed and stamped paper Certificates of Live Birth and fly directly to Washington DC, is obviously not the document the public has been shown. In other words the whole story may not be true. I checked the cost for UPS to ship the documents next day and delivery by 8:30 am Tuesday and it was only $84.00. I checked the cost for a lawyer to fly Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org> last minute from Seattle to Hawaii then to Washington DC it is thousands of dollars. Their story is just not believable. The PDF file indicates the PDF "CreatorTool" was Preview which is an Apple product that is just like Adobe's Acrobat Standard, which is a viewer and print driver. It is not a photo and image design program. It is just the program that created the PDF file (as a print driver). The Preview program can also read twenty-six different image and document types, that includes Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop.

Defenders of the Administration's argument that the layers were created by an OCR program (Optical Character Recognition) are also ridiculously wrong because the PDF file is not a searchable PDF therefore no OCR process was performed and additionally no text object was found within the

Some of the examples of the layering can be found on the following YouTube web sites.

This one shows the layering in Illustrator:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=wQAqvtXenKg&feature=related>

This one shows that letter “B” in box 1e and 8 are exactly the same, another example of cut and paste.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=aMLdrrC1-xs&feature=mfu_in_order&list=UL

Another good explanation of layering showing at least 9 layers.

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=QNJfdKClbH4&feature=related>

The discovery of nine layers in the PDF image didn’t matter for my analysis 1 through 7 because I was able to export the image as a TIFF (18.35 MB) out of that PDF using my Adobe Standard software. So I was working from a flattened image and was able to find all that I did, in other words the layers were irrelevant to me but was just further proof that the Obama’s Certificate of Live Birth is a forgery.

Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org>

Figure 27: The layer that contains most of the forms text and typewriter text. I have received other White House PDF files from Graphic artists around the country. As a result I received a PDF Certificate that was put up on the White House web site no more than 10 minutes after it was uploaded. That PDF showed nine layers, no OCR (see Figure 28), Image file created at 7:50 am on the 27th (see Figure 29) and finally the PDF file created using Preview (the print driver) and modified on 4/27/11 at 12:09 p.m., which is similar to my file. My conclusion is that this shows the individuals in the White House were “fixing” or changing this forgery as late as 7:50 a.m., an hour before the pre-news conference. Figure 28. Shows 9 layers and no OCR. Figure 29. Created 7:50 AM Figure 30. PDF modified 4/27/11 @ 12:09 am. A Rebuttal to the Discovery of the Multi Layers Found in the PDF File. To begin with the White House PDF was not a searchable PDF therefore no OCR process was performed on the image and therefore the following rebuttal and defense of Obama’s COLB is irrelevant and a very poor attempt at defending this blatant forgery. The only rebuttal to the nine layers discovered in the PDF file released by the White House was a statement from Canadian graphic artists from Quebec by the name of Jean-Claude Tremblay on April 29. It was reported by Fox News and on their web site at:

<http://www.foxnews.com/politics/2011/04/29/expert-says-obamas-birth-certificate-legit/>.

He tries to excuse the multi-layers as merely an artifact of an OCR (Optical Character Recognition) engine and then saved as a PDF. There are three major reasons he is wrong and I know Copy provided courtesy of: <http://www.ProtectOurLiberty.org> from his statement he knows nothing about OCR engines and how they work and their file structure. First the PDF file is not a searchable PDF and no text object could be found in the PDF file. Second, the Obama PDF certificate was supposed to have come directly from the Health Departments office. As stated before, the records they have would have absolutely no reason to be OCRed and if they were asked to give the customer a PDF image it would be from their existing TIFF image stored in their document imaging program on the server. The program would have done no OCR processing at that time. The third reason is the lack of OCR files in the PDF file. My qualifications on OCR programs are considerable. Our own document imaging program, TheRepository, has an OCR option from Expervision that is called TypeReader. We integrated TypeReader into our program but to do this we had to sign a non-disclosure statement with them and then we got their Took Kit and API. When an OCR program saves a file as a searchable PDF, the file contains three main files within it. The first file is an image file, usually a compressed Group4 TIFF. The second file is an ASCII text file and the last file is a matrix file that contains the X and Y coordinates of all the words in the document. The starting point for the image file and the matrix file is usually the upper left hand corner of the image measured in pixels. The text file and matrix files would never be seen as separate layers and there are certainly not nine layers. The three files would be in a PDF “wrapper” and that is all. All OCR programs work on the same principle.

The defendant is charged in [Count _____ of] the indictment with bank fraud in violation of Section 1344(1) of Title 18 of the United States Code. In order for the defendant to be found guilty of that charge, the government must prove each of the following elements beyond a reasonable doubt:

First, the defendant devised or knowingly participated in a scheme or plan to deprive the [specify financial institution] of the right of honest services;

Second, the scheme or plan consists of a [bribe] [kickback] in exchange for the defendant's services. The "exchange" may be express or may be implied from all the surrounding circumstances;

Third, the defendant owed a fiduciary duty to [specify financial institution];

Fourth, the defendant acted with the intent to defraud by depriving the [specify financial institution] of the right of honest services;

Fifth, the defendant's act was material; that is, the act had a natural tendency to influence, or was capable of influencing, the decisionmaker or decisionmaking body to which it was directed; and

Sixth, the [specify financial institution] was federally [chartered] [insured].

Conclusion

This forgery is so outrageous and obvious a fraud that it brings to mind what the forger had in mind. You could truly call this a Frankenstein Certificate of Live Birth. I will not try to speculate about the psychology of the forger and stick to the facts I know or can logically conclude. It will be for Congressional hearings, for the FBI to investigate and finally federal and state courts to decide that. It had been reported by the Washington Times that the White House changed the image of the PDF the next day and that is correct since the PDF file proved it was altered on the 28th at 9:58 a.m.. The White House knew they had a problem with the Long Form Certificate. It was certainly convenient for Osama Bin Laden to have been found and killed within a few days of the release of this fraud. The disturbing part of this forgery is that we the citizens do not know who our President is and if he is even a citizen. It is a logical conclusion that since President Barack Obama felt it necessary to have a Certificate of Live Birth forged for himself then we must conclude that there is in fact no birth certificate in Hawaii and therefore he was not born inside the United States, as the Constitution requires (see Appendix A); and further, that he knew it and others also knew it but wanted him in office for whatever reason. The answer to that question might be found in a report funded by the Pentagon in 2009 entitled Economic Warfare: Risks and Responses. Analysis of the 22nd Century

Risks in Light of the Recent Market Collapse.” This can be downloaded from:

http://www.archiveindex.com/Obamas_Certificate_Forgery.html.

The report was in response to the economic collapse in early 2008 and the rise in oil prices to over $140 per barrel. You will note that George Soros is prominently mentioned and he was, and still is, a major supporter of Obama. Also remember that Soros has made his money destroying foreign currencies just as what is happening to the U.S. dollar now.

Mr. Tim Adams a former senior elections clerk in the County of Honolulu reported on WorldNet Daily, “There is no birth certificate,” and “I had direct access to the Social Security database, the national crime computer, state driver's license information, international passport information, basically just about anything you can imagine to get someone's identity,” Adams explained. “I could look up what bank your home mortgage was in. I was informed by my boss that we did not have a birth record [for Obama].” He also stated that they checked both hospitals there, Queen's Medical Center in Honolulu, as well as the Kapiolani Medical Center for Women and Children. “They told us, ‘We don't have a birth certificate for him,’” he said. “They told my supervisor, either by phone or by e-mail, neither one has a document that a doctor signed off on saying they were present at this man's birth."

WorldNetDaily reported that they confirmed with Hawaiian officials that Adams was indeed working in their election offices during the last presidential election. "His title was senior elections clerk in 2008," said Glen Takahashi, elections administrator for the city and county of Honolulu.

Takahashi also confirmed Adams' time frame at the office from spring until the month of August.

A second article published in WorldNetDaily on January 24, 2011 also states: "Senior officers in the City and County of Honolulu Elections Division told me on multiple occasions that no Hawaii long-form, hospital-generated birth certificate existed for Senator Obama in the Hawaii Department of Health," Adams' affidavit reads, "and there was no record that any such document had ever been on file in the Hawaii Department of Health or any other branch or department of the Hawaii government." "My supervisor came and told me, 'Of course, there's no birth certificate. What? You stupid,'" Adams said. "She usually spoke well, but in saying this she reverted to a Hawaiian dialect.

I really didn't know how to respond to that. She said it and just walked off. She was quite a powerful lady."

Mr. Tim Adams also signed a notarized affidavit (see Figure 26) "swearing he was told by his supervisors in Hawaii that no long-form, hospital-generated birth certificate existed for Barack Obama Jr. in Hawaii and that neither Queens Medical Center nor Kapiolani Medical Center in Honolulu had any record of Obama having been born in their medical facilities."

In the affidavit Adams swears, "During the course of my employment, I came to understand that for political reasons, various officials in the government of Hawaii, including then-Governor Linda Lingle and various officials of the Hawaii Department of Health, including Dr. Chiyome Fukino, the director of the Hawaii Department of Health, were making representations that Senator Obama was born in Hawaii, even though no government official in Hawaii could find a long-form birth certificate for Senator Obama that had been issued by a Hawaii hospital at the time of his birth.”

The reason I have included Mr. Tim Adams testimony is because it strongly suggests that there was and is an ongoing conspiracy to defraud the United States (Title 18, pt.1, Ch 47, sec. 1028(a)(4) using a fraudulent document. The shameful thing is that it’s the one document that is required for a person to become President of the United States and these “public” officials had chosen to deceive for political and possibly financial gain. The individual holding the office of the President of the United States has access to all the nation’s secrets and is Commander and Chief of the armed forces.

This fraudulent Certificate of Live Birth is a national security issue. These are very serious charges connected to what the conspirators have done. I have included the section of Title 18 that pertains to this forgery for you to read in full. It comes directly from the Federal government web site <http://uscode.house.gov/> so it is current. Rebuttal to the Hawaiian Published Newspaper Notice of Obama Jr. Birth. WorldNetDaily reported on January 7, 2010 that in 1961, Hawaiian law specifically allowed “an adult or the legal parents of a minor child” to apply to the health department and, upon unspecified proof, be given a birth document in the form of a Certification of Live Birth. The only requirement stated in Hawaiian law is “that the legal parents of such individual while living without the Territory or State of Hawaii had declared the Territory or State of Hawaii as their legal residence for at least one year immediately preceding the birth or adoption of such child.” So, even the listing of an address on a COLB or in a newspaper birth announcement is no proof the baby was born in Hawaii. Under Hawaiian law, a family wishing to register the birth of a baby born outside Hawaii can list a family residence in Hawaii as the birth address, even if the mother was residing outside Hawaii at the time the baby was born. [<http://www.wnd.com/index.php?fa=PAGE.view&pageId=121136>]. The only way we would know if Barack Obama Jr. was born in Hawaii is if his mother’s passport records could be retrieved and find out when she re-entered the United States. It is apparent that President Obama has presented no evidence that he is a “Natural Born Citizen” and there is a good chance that he may not even be a citizen.

The Laws that Have Been Broken

I am not an attorney but was an accountant and worked for three CPA firms before I went into business for myself. I have read and understood the Federal Tax code, so understanding Title 18 is no problem. I have listed in Appendix D the entire section of the Federal Code that directly covers the seriousness of this fraud.

Under Hawaii State code §708-851, it would be forgery in the first degree which is a Class B Felony (see Appendix B). The Federal charges are much more extensive because of the nature of the crime, and who did it and the ramifications to the country. It would not surprise me that maximum prison sentences were given out but of course a judge and jury would have to determine that. The Federal law is covered under Title 18-Crimes and Criminal Procedures; Part 1-Crimes, Chapter 47- Fraud and False Statements, Section-1028-Fraud and related activity in connection with identification documents, authentication features, and information is the main section that the forgery of a Certificate of Live Birth would be covered under. 1. Forgery of a public document; 2. Conspiracy to commit forgery, because Obama had to have paid someone to create the forgery and it is evident others were involved; 3. Obstruction of Justice if this went to trial; 4 and 5. If the conspirators had bribed a County Clerk(s) to insert this PDF file into the county's document imaging system, you would have bribery and tampering with government records. All of these are felonies and are impeachable offenses. The penalty for committing document forgery is up to 15 years in prison and for just forging the unique Certificate number is another 5 years. At this point it doesn't matter if he was born in Kenya or Hawaii. He and his fellow conspirators are facing forgery charges and much more. If Congress does not hold a hearing on this forgery, the vast majority of Americans will lose faith in our country's legal system and governmental institutions. As it is, the public poll numbers for Copy provided courtesy of:

Congress are in the low two digits. Congress and the ruling elite have to decide whether we are a country of laws or are the laws only enforced on the little people and those outside of the ruling political party. publicity, but you can freely use the information to inform the public. I am willing to give expert testimony in court or in a Congressional hearing, if requested.

the United States. A copy of that COLB is attached as Exhibit “B”. Reviews of that document raise very real concerns as to its authenticity. In particular:

1. The Hawaiian State seal on the COLB is the wrong size. (Vogt Analysis, Exhibit “C”, page. 3, pages 11-13).
2. The hand-stamped State Seal on the two “certified” copies of the COLB are in exactly the same location, an improbable event. (Vogt Analysis, page 3).
3. The COLB has two different type of scans contained in it, binary and grayscale, an impossibility in one scanned object. (Vogt Analysis, page 5).
4. The parallax of the type reveals that there has been tampering. For example, on the COLB: “the work Name drops down 2 pixels, but the typed hospital name, Kapiolani, does not drop down at all, and again the line just below drops down 2 pixels, but not the name Kapiolani.” (Vogt Analysis, page 6).
5. There is white “haloing” around all the type on the form, an indication of tampering with the image. (Vogt Analysis, page 7).
6. The typewritten letters were “cut” and “pasted” into place. (Vogt Analysis, page 9).
7. The “Bates Stamped” sequential number is out of sequence. (Vogt Analysis, page 10).
8. There are two different colors in Box 20 and Box 22, an impossibility on an originally scanned document. (Vogt Analysis, page 10).
9. The Rubber Stamp contains an “X” rather than an “H” in the work “the” when other contemporaneous COLBs with the same stamp do not contain the “X”. (Vogt Analysis, page 13).
10. There are nine “layers” to the Adobe Portable Document File COLB, an indication of a forgery. (Vogt Analysis, pages 16-17). The typewritten letters change size and shape, an impossibility on 1961 typewriters.

(Irey Analysis, Exhibit “D”). An affidavit from Timothy Adams, an employee of the Honolulu Elections Division that there is no “Hawaii long-form, hospital-generated birth certificate” for Barack Obama. (Adams Eric H. Holder, Jr, Attorney General Ronald C. Machen Jr., United States Attorney for the District of Columbia November 26, 2011 Affidavit, Exhibit “E”).

Upon the foregoing, and pursuant to §3501, I request that either or both of you institute a petition for a writ “quo warranto” in “the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in the name of the United States against” Barack Obama upon your own motion or my relation. Needless to say, pursuant to §3503, if you refuse, I will petition to institute the quo warranto proceeding on my own. Hence, your prompt decision on this “request” is called for given that time is obviously of the essence when such an important question is at issue. Accordingly, I have confidence you will respond by January 2, 2012, to this letter and I will take your silence after that date to be an expression of refusal to institute the requested quo warranto proceeding.

Last, it bears stating that your respective oaths of office were to the Constitution and not the man who placed you in your respective offices. Indeed: “In any event, it is clear that the idea of the sovereign, or any part of it, being above the law in this sense has not survived in American law.” Seminole Tribe v. Fla., 517 U.S. 44, f/n #2 (1996). “No man in this country is so high that he is above the law. No officer of the law may set that law at defiance with impunity. All officers of the government, from the highest to the lowest, are creatures of the law, and are bound to obey it.” United States v. Lee, 106 U.S. 220, 261 (1882)(Emphasis added). As you each are bound to “obey” the law and are charged with enforcing it, I trust you will do your duty promptly and not impose upon my limited resources to do it for you.

Planned Parenthood whistleblower: Heart of aborted fetus was still beating

More

A whistleblower describes extracting brain tissue from a fetus whose heart was still beating, in a seventh undercover video targeting Planned Parenthood that was released Wednesday morning.

Holly O'Donnell used to help collect aborted fetal tissue from Planned Parenthood clinics as a former lab technician for the California-based biomedical company Stem Express. She appears in past footage released by anti-abortion investigator David Daleiden, and in the latest video, she says she was asked by a colleague named "Jessica" to handle an aborted fetus whose heart was still beating.

"[Jessica] taps the heart and it starts beating," O'Donnell says. "I'm sitting here and looking at this fetus and its heart is beating."

The footage also contains interviews with officials from Planned Parenthood and two other human tissue companies, Advanced Bioscience Resources and Novogenix Labs, who discuss the practice of injecting fetuses with a drug called digoxin. Digoxin results in the death of the fetus before the abortion is performed, so that doctors can't be accused of violating the federal ban on partial-birth abortion.

Immigration and Nationality Act Offenses

Section 1961(1)(F), added by several amendments in 1996, includes as racketeering activity: any act which is indictable under the Immigration and Nationality Act, i.e., section 274 (relating to bringing in and harboring certain aliens), section 277 (relating to aiding or assisting certain aliens to enter the United States), or section 278 (relating to importation of aliens for immoral purposes) if the act indictable under such section of such Act was committed for the purpose of financial gain.

These violations are codified, respectively, at 8 U.S.C. §§ 1324, 1327 and 1328. See also discussion of ex post facto issues arising from such amendments in Section VI(F)(4) below.

Opinion of the Court I

This case began with an anonymous tip. In December 2006, someone called the South Salt Lake City police's drug-tip line to report "narcotics activity" at a particular residence. App. 15. Narcotics detective Douglas Fackrell investigated the tip. Over the course of about a week, Officer Fackrell conducted intermittent surveillance of the home. He observed visitors who left a few minutes after arriving at the house. These visits were sufficiently frequent to raise his suspicion that the occupants were dealing drugs.

One of those visitors was respondent Edward Strieff. Officer Fackrell observed Strieff exit the house and walk toward a nearby convenience store. In the store's parking lot, Officer Fackrell detained Strieff, identified himself, and asked Strieff what he was doing at the residence.

As part of the stop, Officer Fackrell requested Strieff's identification, and Strieff produced his Utah identification card. Officer Fackrell relayed Strieff's information to a police dispatcher, who reported that Strieff had an outstanding arrest warrant for a traffic violation. Officer Fackrell then arrested Strieff pursuant to that warrant. When Officer Fackrell searched Strieff incident to the arrest, he discovered a baggie of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia.

The State charged Strieff with unlawful possession of methamphetamine and drug paraphernalia. Strieff moved to suppress the evidence, arguing that the evidence was inadmissible because it was derived from an unlawful investigatory stop. At the suppression hearing, the prosecutor conceded that Officer Fackrell lacked reasonable suspicion for the stop but argued that the evidence should not be suppressed because the existence of a valid arrest warrant attenuated the connection between the unlawful stop and the discovery of the contraband.

The trial court agreed with the State and admitted

States Move to Cut Funds for Planned Parenthood

WASHINGTON — With Congress in summer recess into September, anti-abortion officials in a number of Republican-controlled states are rushing to halt public funding for Planned Parenthood or to investigate it in reaction to hidden-camera videos claiming that it profits from fetal tissue sales.

On Monday, Planned Parenthood of Southwest and Central Florida sought a judge's emergency injunction against the state health agency, which did inspections ordered by the governor and cited three clinics — in St. Petersburg, Naples and Fort Myers — as illegally performing second-trimester abortions when they are licensed only for first-trimester procedures. The state used a new definition of gestational age, one that differs from that of medical societies.

Planned Parenthood Is Defended as Senate Democrats Block Bill to End Funding AUG. 3, 2015

Planned Parenthood condemned the Florida charges as false, just as it has the allegations of trafficking in fetal parts that have been lodged against it since last month in a series of online videos. The recordings of Planned Parenthood officials were secretly made by abortion opponents posing as biomedical representatives seeking tissue for medical research.

Those videos have spurred the most energized campaign to “defund” the nonprofit organization in several years — joined by Republicans in Congress; state capitals, especially in the South; and the 2016 presidential field. And more videos have been promised, roughly at the rate of one a week, to keep the issue alive into the fall.

Conservative groups and lawmakers are calling for a government shutdown unless federal funds for Planned Parenthood and other family-planning programs are stripped from spending bills for the fiscal year starting Oct. 1.

Pending Congress’s move, however, some states dominated by Republicans are acting now, though Planned Parenthood affiliates in those states do not have fetal donation programs. Such programs exist in three states — California, Washington and Oregon — officials say, with tissue provided to researchers only with the consent of patients and with charges reflecting only clinics’ costs, not profits.

While Planned Parenthood is the nation’s largest provider of abortions, fewer than half of its nearly 700 clinics perform them, according to the organization. By longtime law, no federal money can cover abortions except for Medicaid patients in cases of rape, incest or pregnancy that threatens a woman’s life.

Instead, public funding covers services to a mostly low-income clientele for contraception, wellness care, cancer screening and the diagnosis and treatment of sexually transmitted diseases for women and men. The funding makes up about 40 percent of Planned Parenthood’s budget.

On Friday, Arkansas became the fifth state to try to cut off state money by ending its contract with Planned Parenthood for services to residents covered by Medicaid, the health insurance program for the poor jointly run by states and the federal government. Arkansas follows Louisiana, Alabama, Utah and New Hampshire. The actions would not take effect until September, pending a period for appeal.

Definition of Human Trafficking

Human trafficking is a modern-day form of slavery involving the illegal trade of people for exploitation or commercial gain.

Every year, millions of men, women, and children are trafficked in countries around the world, including the United States. It is estimated that human trafficking is a $32 billion per year industry, second only to drug trafficking as the most profitable form of transnational crime.

Human trafficking is a hidden crime, as victims rarely come forward to seek help because of language barriers, fear of the traffickers, and/or fear of law enforcement.

Traffickers use force, fraud, or coercion to lure their victims and force them into labor or commercial sexual exploitation. They look for people who are vulnerable for a variety of reasons, including economic hardship, natural disasters, or political instability. The trauma can be so great that many may not identify themselves as victims or ask for help, even in highly public settings.

Traffickers often operate by:

- Using violence or threatening the person or the person's family members;
- Harming or depriving the person of basic necessities, such as food, water, or sleep;
- Making false promises of love or companionship;
- Making false promises of a good job and home;
- Restricting contact with friends or family;
- Limiting freedom of movement;
- Controlling the person's identification documents;
- Threatening deportation or law enforcement action;
- Garnishing the person's salary to pay off alleged debts; and/or
- Preventing the victim from attending religious services.

WASHINGTON - Congressman Bob Goodlatte is calling on the Department of Justice for more information regarding its Planned Parenthood investigations via a letter to Attorney General Loretta Lynch.

In a news release sent to WHSV, Goodlatte shared the following:

The letter is part of the Judiciary Committee's ongoing investigation into the acts of Planned Parenthood, and comes a month after Chairman Goodlatte sent a letter to Attorney General Loretta Lynch demanding further investigation by DOJ into potential violations of the Partial-Birth Abortion Ban Act by Planned Parenthood.

Recent videos featuring executives from Planned Parenthood discuss the sale and possible alteration of abortion procedures in order to gain intact fetal body parts. The Committee is seeking further answers from DOJ in regards to the laws that govern such practices and their enforcement. Chairman Goodlatte's letter to DOJ specifically states that "[N]ew evidence suggests that this disturbing practice of altering the procedure is more than an isolated instance."

Based on the evidence presented in the videos featuring Planned Parenthood executives, Chairman Goodlatte has called upon DOJ to assess three federal laws that may be implicated by these videos, and expressed the Committee's "interest in understanding the history of the enforcement of these laws at the Department of Justice."

Below is the text of the letter.

August 17, 2015

The Honorable Loretta Lynch
Attorney General
United States Department of Justice
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Attorney General Lynch:

The House Judiciary Committee has launched an investigation into whether Planned Parenthood abortionists altered procedures in order to harvest the organs and body parts of aborted children. "I'd say a lot of people want liver," an executive from Planned Parenthood stated in a video released on July 15, 2015. "And for that reason, most providers will do this case under ultrasound guidance, so they'll know where they're putting their forceps." She further stated: "We've been very good at getting heart, lung, liver, because we know that so I'm not gonna crush that part, I'm gonna basically crush below, I'm gonna crush above, and I'm gonna see if I can get it all intact."

New evidence suggests that this disturbing practice of altering the procedure is more than an isolated instance. In a recent video released on July 21, 2015, yet another Planned Parenthood abortionist executive stated:

Let me explain to you a little bit of a problem, which may not be a big problem, if our usual technique is suction at 10 to 12 weeks and we switch to using an IPAS [manual vacuum aspirator]

or something with less suction or to increase the odds that it will come out as an intact specimen, then we're kind of violating the protocol that says to the patient, "We're not doing anything different in our care of you." Now to me, that's kind of a specious little argument and I wouldn't object to asking Ian, who's our surgeon who does the cases, to use an IPAS at that gestational age in order to increase the odds that he's going to get an intact specimen.

Later in the video, when asked if she would be happy with the dollar amount per specimen suggested by the undercover investigative journalist, the Planned Parenthood abortionist executive stated: "Well, let me find out from other affiliates in California [what they] are getting and if they're getting more, then we can discuss it then." She continued, "But, you know, the money is not the important thing, but it has to be big enough that it's worthwhile for me."

At least three federal laws may be implicated by this video: 42 U.S.C. § 274e, which states that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly acquire, receive, or otherwise transfer any human organ for valuable consideration for use in human transplantation if the transfer affects interstate commerce"; 42 U.S.C. § 289g, which states that "[i]t shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly acquire, receive, or otherwise transfer any human fetal tissue for valuable consideration if the transfer affects interstate commerce"; and 18 U.S.C. § 1531, which prohibits partial-birth abortions.

We write regarding our interest in understanding the history of the enforcement of these laws at the Department of Justice. Please provide the Committee with a copy of the complaint in every case filed by the Department in which a violation of 42 U.S.C. § 274e, 42 U.S.C. § 289g, or 18 U.S.C. § 1531, and any related federal laws, is alleged.

Thank you in advance for your prompt attention to this request.

WASHINGTON, D.C., August 18, 2015 (LifeSiteNews) -- Two prominent Members of Congress are demanding the Department of Justice investigate three illegal acts they say Planned Parenthood officials admitted to on video.

In a letter, House Judiciary Committee Chairman Bob Goodlatte, R-VA, and Constitution and Civil Justice Subcommittee Chairman Trent Franks, R-AZ, demanded that U.S. Attorney General Loretta Lynch inform their committee of what the Department of Justice has found in relation to lawbreaking allegations in light of the Center for Medical Progress' video series.

The letter came a month after the Members sent a letter to Lynch demanding greater investigations into Planned Parenthood, related to potential partial-birth abortions, which are illegal.

Last month, Lynch told reporters that she would consider a possible investigation of Planned Parenthood after videos started being released by the Center for Medical Progress (CMP). However, she has not followed up with a public course of action.

The new letter, pasted in full below, requests that Lynch "provide the Committee with a copy of the complaint in every case filed by the Department in which a violation of" three federal laws "and any related federal laws, is alleged."

The three laws relate to illegal profiting of fetal harvesting, conducting partial-birth abortions, and illegally "affect[ing] interstate commerce" through fetal tissue sales.

Two Hill aides told LifeSiteNews that any House investigations will be broader than the three potential violations of federal law addressed in the letter. A House Judiciary aide e-mailed that "the investigation into Planned Parenthood is a collaborative effort by several committees in the House, and we expect to examine all aspects of the alleged acts done by Planned Parenthood."

A GOP Hill aide likewise said that "this will be a group effort by many Congressmen and Committees, so the investigation isn't exclusively limited to the contents of this letter. All of the potential lawbreaking by Planned Parenthood will be called into question."

LifeSiteNews had specifically asked about lawbreaking alleged by CMP senior investigator David Daleiden. Daleiden told LifeSiteNews that Planned Parenthood senior officials endorsed violations of a law that requires "no alteration of the timing, method, or procedures used to terminate the pregnancy [be]...made solely for the purposes of obtaining the tissue." Those officials also indicated that such actions are conducted by Planned Parenthood employees.

The House Energy & Commerce Committee has also begun investigating Planned Parenthood, and sent at least one letter to Planned Parenthood and biomedical companies that engage in fetal tissue sales.

The letter:

August 17, 2015
The Honorable Loretta Lynch
Attorney General
United States Department of Justice
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Attorney General Lynch:

The House Judiciary Committee has launched an investigation into whether Planned Parenthood abortionists altered procedures in order to harvest the organs and body parts of aborted children. "I'd say a lot of people want liver," an executive from Planned Parenthood stated in a video released on July 15, 2015. "And for that reason, most providers will do this case under ultrasound guidance, so they'll know where they're putting their forceps." She further stated: "We've been very good at getting heart, lung, liver, because we know that so I'm not gonna crush that part, I'm gonna basically crush below, I'm gonna crush above, and I'm gonna see if I can get it all intact."

New evidence suggests that this disturbing practice of altering the procedure is more than an isolated instance. In a recent video released on July 21, 2015, yet another Planned Parenthood abortionist executive stated:

Let me explain to you a little bit of a problem, which may not be a big problem, if our usual technique is suction at 10 to 12 weeks and we switch to using an IPAS [manual vacuum aspirator] or something with less suction or to increase the odds that it will come out as an intact specimen, then we're kind of violating the protocol that says to the patient, "We're not doing anything different in our care of you." Now to me, that's kind of a specious little argument and I wouldn't object to asking Ian, who's our surgeon who does the cases, to use an IPAS at that gestational age in order to increase the odds that he's going to get an intact specimen.

Later in the video, when asked if she would be happy with the dollar amount per specimen suggested by the undercover investigative journalist, the Planned Parenthood abortionist executive stated: "Well, let me find out from other affiliates in California [what they] are getting and if they're getting more, then we can discuss it then." She continued, "But, you know, the money is not the important thing, but it has to be big enough that it's worthwhile for me."

At least three federal laws may be implicated by this video: 42 U.S.C. § 274e, which states that "t shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly acquire, receive, or otherwise transfer any human organ for valuable consideration for use in human transplantation if the transfer affects interstate commerce"; 42 U.S.C. § 289g, which states that "t shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly acquire, receive, or otherwise transfer any human fetal tissue for valuable consideration if the transfer affects interstate commerce"; and 18 U.S.C. § 1531, which prohibits partial-birth abortions.

We write regarding our interest in understanding the history of the enforcement of these laws at the Department of Justice. Please provide the Committee with a copy of the complaint in every case filed by the Department in which a violation of 42 U.S.C. § 274e, 42 U.S.C. § 289g, or 18 U.S.C. § 1531, and any related federal laws, is alleged.

Thank you in advance for your prompt attention to this request. Please have your staff respond to John Coleman at (202) 225-2825 no later than August

GOP Leaders Demand History Of DOJ Fetal Trafficking Investigations

House Republicans demanding a federal investigation into Planned Parenthood continued to press the Department of Justice Monday, demanding to know how it typically handles alleged violations of federal abortion and tissue sale laws.

The Committee on the Judiciary is investigating allegations Planned Parenthood is selling aborted baby parts for profit — sometimes altering the abortion procedure for the sake of the harvest — and is calling on the DoJ to take action. (RELATED: See How The ‘Research’ Sausage Is Made In New Planned Parenthood Video)

In July, the committee demanded Attorney General Loretta Lynch launch a separate DoJ investigation. This week, Chairman Bob Goodlatte and Rep. Trent Franks, Constitution and Civil Justice Subcommittee chairman, demanded the DoJ detail how it has handled similar allegations in the past.

“We write regarding our interest in understanding the history of the enforcement of these laws at the Department of Justice,” they wrote in the letter to Lynch, referring to allegations Planned Parenthood is illegally selling baby parts, altering abortion procedures to preserve the parts, and performing banned partial-birth abortions.

Planned Parenthood Caught Illegally Doing 12th-Trimester Abortions: We're Not Breaking the Law

As LifeNews.com reported yesterday, three Planned Parenthood abortion clinics in Florida were caught illegally killing babies in second-trimester abortions. Now, the abortion business claims it's doing nothing illegal and it kicked a local television news crew out of its office.

The state of Florida launched an investigation into the Planned Parenthood abortion business after multiple expose' videos have caught the abortion business selling the body parts of aborted babies.

Now, state health department inspectors are reporting their results and they found Planned Parenthood abortion clinics are illegally doing 12th-trimester abortions. Those are the kinds of abortions that allow Planned Parenthood to gather the body parts of aborted babies for sale.

SIGN THE PETITION! Congress Must Investigate Planned Parenthood for Selling Aborted Baby Parts

WINK News in Naples Florida sent reporters to the Planned Parenthood abortion business there. They were promptly kicked off the property.

When a state investigation released Wednesday revealed Planned Parenthood clinics in Fort Myers and Naples were performing illegal second trimester abortions, WINK News went to the Naples office for a response.

One staff member acknowledged the investigation, but would not say anything specific about the findings. Another staff member escorted our crew away from the building, refusing to answer questions.

Meanwhile, WINK reports that the Florida Planned Parenthood affiliate of the abortion business claims it's done nothing wrong:

Florida Alliance of Planned Parenthood Affiliates Executive Director Laura Goodhue issued a statement late Wednesday night saying in part, "I can state unequivocally that all of our health centers are operating in full compliance with florida law as well as best practices in reproductive health care."

Goodhue also says, “the claim that any of our health centers are performing procedures we are not licensed to perform is false.”

Planned Parenthood claims the investigation did not measure trimesters correctly.

Governor Scott has warned “if a Planned Parenthood office is not following the law, we will move quickly to take legal and regulatory action against them.”

A whistleblower describes extracting brain tissue from a fetus whose heart was still beating, in a seventh undercover video targeting Planned Parenthood that was released Wednesday morning.

Holly O'Donnell used to help collect aborted fetal tissue from Planned Parenthood clinics as a former lab technician for the California-based biomedical company Stem Express. She appears in past footage released by anti-abortion investigator David Daleiden, and in the latest video, she says she was asked by a colleague named "Jessica" to handle an aborted fetus whose heart was still beating.

"[Jessica] taps the heart and it starts beating," O'Donnell says. "I'm sitting here and looking at this fetus and its heart is beating."

The footage also contains interviews with officials from Planned Parenthood and two other human tissue companies, Advanced Bioscience Resources and Novogenix Labs, who discuss the practice of injecting fetuses with a drug called digoxin. Digoxin results in the death of the fetus before the abortion is performed, so that doctors can't be accused of violating the federal ban on partial-birth abortion.

Ben Van Handel, executive director of Novogenix Labs, says that sometimes a fetus's heart is still beating after the abortion, although it's unclear whether that's with the use of digoxin or without.

"So you know there are times when after the procedure is done the heart is still beating," she says in the video.

Daleiden has prompted several congressional investigations into Planned Parenthood with his series of videos where he and another actor posed as human tissue buyers and discussed the practice of aborted fetal tissue donations with top Planned Parenthood officials.

The officials at time appearing to be haggling over the price of organs, although the group has said it has not profited from the donations, which would be illegal.

A sixth sting video has been released exposing Planned Parenthood's alleged sale of aborted fetus tissue - this time inside the supply unit.

The Center for Medical Progress interviews supply technician Holly McDonnell, a licensed phlebotomist at the fetal tissue company StemExpress, who describes how she was expected to haggle women to sign a consent form to sell or donate their fetus's remains.

She reveals some of her colleagues in Fresno, California, would harvest fetuses even if they had failed to get the mother's consent.

And even women coming in for a pregnancy test would be taken aside and asked to consider surrendering their fetus. 'Pregnancy tests are potential pregnancies, therefore potential specimens,' O'Donnell said. 'So it's just taking advantage of the opportunities.'

The alarming claims are part of a large-scale campaign by the CMP to 'hold Planned Parenthood accountable for their illegal sale of baby parts.' It is against federal law to procure a fetus's tissue without the mother's consent.

SCROLL DOWN FOR VIDEOS

'Whistleblower': Holly O'Donnell claims her colleagues would take women's blood samples before their abortion without telling them what it was for, before listing them as having consented to harvesting their fetus

O'Donnell, who is described as a whistleblower, was employed to identify pregnancies that matched the kind of fetus StemExpress clients were looking for.

The tissue taken from aborted fetuses can be used to study development, how medicines and diseases affect unborn babies, and even how they are created by the body. Vaccine development has relied on using fetal tissue for testing for close to 100 years.

'I thought I was just going to be drawing blood not procuring tissue from aborted fetuses,' she says.

Each day, O'Donnell explains, she had full access to Planned Parenthood's booking system to see who was coming in and how long they were gestated.

'They give you a sheet, and it's everybody for that day, who's coming in for an ultrasound, who's coming in for an abortion, medical or a late-term abortion.'

When the patient arrived, she would take them into a private room and describe the process of donating a fetus's remains, then she would ask for their consent.

She insists that if a mother appeared uneasy or sick, she would not push them. 'I'm not going to tell a girl to kill her baby so I can get money,' O'Donnell said, but claims: 'that's what this company does.'

However, her colleagues, she claims, would berate her for 'missing an opportunity' - before chasing down the unwilling patient and making an excuse to take their blood sample anyway.

Consent: The forms women must sign to authorize the donation of their fetal tissue

QUESTIONS ABOUT FETAL TISSUE

WHAT IS IT USED FOR?

The tissue taken from aborted fetuses can be used to study development, how medicines and diseases affect unborn babies, and even how they are created by the body. Vaccine development has relied on using fetal tissue for testing for close to 100 years, with the Polio vaccine being the most famous success story.

HOW IS IT PROVIDED?

Women who have abortions or miscarriages can sign a form giving their consent to have their tissue used for research purposes. At that point it usually goes directly to the researchers, with the money being accepted for it used to cover the transportation cost as well as the cost to actually house the sample. It is against federal law to make a profit from the sale of fetal tissue.

'If there was a higher gestation, and the technicians needed it, there were times when they would just take what they wanted. And these mothers don't know. And there's no way they would know,' O'Donnell said.

In one instance, she says, a colleague demanded to know why O'Donnell hadn't got consent from a high-gestation patient. When O'Donnell said the girl wasn't comfortable with it, she claims, the colleague went over to the girl, took her in a room, and took her blood sample - setting her up for the harvesting process.

O'Donnell recalled saying to the colleague: 'So basically you just went in there and took her blood and you're going to be taking her fetus without her knowing.'

'It's terrifying. Imagine if you were an abortion patient and someone was going in and stealing your baby's parts and half of these women are already on edge as it is,' O'Donnell said. 'So it's just terrible.' 'If abortion was a good thing, there wouldn't be so much emotional damage from it,' she said.

It is the latest in a series of undercover videos, including that shows doctors closely examining an aborted fetus for viable tissue to assess how much each part is worth.

The parts of the fetus - including the head, hands, and legs - are easily identifiable in the video as the doctors discuss pricing of individual parts versus the entire body.

The video was released after Cecile Richards - the president of Planned Parenthood - said in an interview that the group has done nothing illegal and is the target of a political smear campaign.

Senator Rand Paul announced last month that the Senate would vote to block the $528 million in federal aid the organization receives each year before they recess in August.

Fifth video: The previous video features a doctor discussing the pricing of fetal tissue samples

Undercover: There is also graphic footage of the group looking for specific tissue from an aborted fetus

VIDEO 5: FETAL TISSUE EXTRACTION

Actor: Was that crack, the little bits of the skull?

Physician: Mhm - I just want to see one leg. Here's a foot.

Dr Ginde: It's a baby.

Actor: Is that the heart?

Physician: I think so ... here's the heart.

Dr Ginde: Everyone's trying to get in on it.

Physician: I think my fingers will smush it if I try to get it out ... The heart is right there.

Dr. Ginde: So would you call that intact?

Actor: These are intact kidneys, yes. If somebody needed...

Dr. Ginde: Because if I looked at that, I'd be like that's good to go.

Physician: Five stars!

Dr. Ginde: So do people want brain? What do they do with brain ... Do people do stuff with eyeballs?

Actor: Oh yeah. Although eyeballs they generally want more developed than this.

Actor: Then the calvarium. First these was a brain in here -

Dr. Ginde: Blasted out?

Actor: Yeah, it got blasted out with the water.

Dr. Ginde: Well you know a lot of time especially with the second trimester - Is we won't even put water, because it's so big you can put your hand in there. And just pick up the parts.

This latest video, like the last one released by the group, features Dr. Savita Ginde.

Dr. Ginde is the the Vice President and Medical Director of Planned Parenthood of the Rocky Mountains.

Once again Dr. Ginde is seen on camera discussing the pricing of tissue samples from aborted fetuses, and the process by which they are obtained by medical workers.

She also discusses the lengths taken by the group to ensure they do not profit from the sale of fetal tissue samples.

'We talked to [an attorney] in the beginning, you know, we were like 'we don't want to get called on, you know, selling fetal parts across states,' she explains in the video.

Planned Parenthood has repeatedly denied selling fetal tissue for a profit - which is against federal law - and said the pricing discussed in these videos are related to expenses that arise from handling and transporting the samples.

After speaking with the actors pretending to be buyers, Dr Ginde takes them down to show them how the samples are taken from the aborted fetuses.

One of her physicians is heard cracking the skull of a fetus at one point, as he sorts through looking for things like the kidney, heart and brain.

At one point Dr. Ginde says; 'It's a baby.'

Talk turns once again to pricing at this point, with Dr. Ginde telling the actors posing as buyers: 'I think a per-item thing works a little better, just because we can see how much we can get out of it.'

This as opposed to a flat fee for the entire fetus.

Later, as the medical worker continues going through the fetal tissue, he says: 'Another boy!'

While earlier videos attempted to prove that Planned Parenthood was involved in illegal practices, these latest videos seem more focused on trying to attack the organization by graphically describing and showing the process of procuring aborted fetal tissue.

Richards said in her interview on Sunday with This Week: 'I stand behind the health care that we provide at Planned Parenthood. Women trust Planned Parenthood. And I look forward to anyone who wants to look into our policies and procedures.'

Richards also noted that the two women featured in the previous undercover videos - Dr. Deborah Nucatola and Dr. Mary Gatter - were reprimanded for the tone they used when speaking with an actor posing as a buyer that was hired by the Center for Medical Progress.

Those women were seen discussing pricing in those videos, though the organization said it is the price to cover the expenses that arise with procuring and transporting fetal tissue.

Despite their explanations however, some Republicans have taken issue following these videos and claim they clearly show the group is involved in the illegal harvesting of organs.

Senator Rand Paul - who is also one of the 16 Republican presidential candidates - said over the weekend that he plans to push as hard as he can to ensure federal funding to Planned Parenthood gets revoked.

He made that clear when he announced the planned Senate vote on Tuesday, saying that it is 'a huge victory for conservatives' who do not support abortion no matter what the outcome.

Speaking out: Cecile Richards - the president of Planned Parenthood - said in an interview that the group has done nothing illegal and is the target of a political smear campaign

House Speaker John Boehner also spoke out against the organization last week, saying; 'Nothing is more precious than life, especially an unborn child.

'When anyone diminishes an unborn child, we are all hurt, irreversibly so. When an organization monetizes an unborn child – and with the cavalier attitude portrayed in this horrific video – we must all act.'

The $528million in taxpayer funding received last year came in the form of government grants and contracts, plus Medicaid reimbursements.

Federal and state taxpayer funding provides more than 40 per cent of its funding.

Planned Parenthood has grown from a single New York City birth control clinic opened by eugenics supporter Margaret Sanger in 1921 into a $1 billion organization with 820 clinics where 300,000 abortions are performed each year.

They did manage to score a small victory on Wednesday when a California court ruled that the Center for Medical progress could not release video taken of three employees from StemExpress, a company that provides fetal tissue samples.

This may explain why the video released last month is so similar to the one released days earlier.

BREAKING: Loretta Lynch Caught in Deceptive Disclaimer

By Sidney Powell | 03/11/15 8:08pm

Comment

Attorney for the Eastern District of New York Loretta Lynch testifies during her confirmation hearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee January 28, 2015 on Capitol Hill in Washington, DC. (Photo: Mark Wilson/ Getty Images)

After her hearing before the Judiciary Committee, during which Ms. Lynch artfully parried all of the difficult questions, the Senators gave Ms. Lynch a number of questions to answer in writing. One of her answers is either very wrong, flat-out false, or demonstrates the egregious gamesmanship that is corrupting our Department of Justice.

Senator Hatch expressed his concern about her compliance with the mandatory provisions of federal laws that require restitution to victims of criminal conduct.

Indeed, his first question was premised on the April 25, 2013, testimony of Professor Paul Cassell of the University of Utah College of Law before the House Judiciary Committee. The professor suggested that Ms. Lynch's office had failed to follow the restitution statutes in a sealed case involving a racketeering defendant [Felix Slater] who had cooperated with the government, remaining free for ten years despite his serious frauds which remained concealed.

Specifically, Professor Cassell had cited documents appearing to show that Ms. Lynch's office "failed to notify victims of the sentencing in that case and had arranged for the racketeer to keep the money he had stolen from victims, even though the law makes restitution mandatory.” Senator Hatch had helped pass both of the statutes at issue: the Mandatory Victim Restitution Act, 18 U.S.C. §3663A, and the Crime Victim Rights Act, 18 U.S.C. §3771.

We have already blown the whistle on the “secret docket” that the Eastern District of New York has run for years. It seems that “cooperators” who do the government’s bidding and testify to its liking are allowed to commit additional crimes against unsuspecting others because the public doesn’t know for years that the cooperators have admitted their own criminal conduct.

In Ms. Lynch’s written response to the Senator’s question, however, she was far from straightforward. Some might say her answer was flat-out deceptive. The only thing obvious from it was more obfuscation.

Ms. Lynch admitted that Mr. Sater began cooperating with the United States Attorney’s office for the Eastern District in New York in December 1998.

Then she distanced herself from the Sater case, asserting that the Sater prosecution was brought before she became United States Attorney for the Eastern District of New York.

Lynch, Caldwell and Weissmann

rule of law. The enforcement—the rules don’t apply to them. They are all licensed to lie.

She said: “The initial sealing of the records related to Sater—which pre-dated my tenure as United States Attorney—occurred by virtue of a cooperation agreement under which Sater pled guilty and agreed to serve as a government witness.” [emphasis added].

Really?! Guess whose signature appears on the charges?

Loretta Lynch signed the criminal racketeering, money-laundering, and securities fraud charges originally filed against Mr. Sater in December 1998. Her name and signature appear on the Information as Acting United States Attorney.

And there being no motion or order on the docket to seal the case back in 1998, one can surmise only that it was all hidden for a decade at her request.

Ms. Lynch claims the issue of Mr. Sater’s restitution remains sealed to this day, but if he was ordered to pay any, it should have appeared on the docket along with his meager fine. It’s hard to imagine a reason for concealing an order of restitution—and it would certainly be a newsflash to his victims, who haven’t received any.

So here we go again—with sleight of hand, falsehoods, disclaimers, and distinctions without differences—anything but the simple truth.

Another remarkable note: Leslie Caldwell was also an Assistant United States Attorney for the Eastern District of New York when the Sater case originated in that office, but somehow that didn’t stop her from representing him when she switched sides and headed the white collar crime practice at Morgan Lewis. That could help explain why Mr. Sater got out of jail free and paid a fine of only \$25,000 despite his millions in gains by his admitted frauds, racketeering, money-laundering, and use of off-shore accounts.

Meanwhile, Brad Stinn, an innocent man and former CEO of Friedman’s Jewelers, has been in prison six years on a twelve year sentence, in a case brought by the same district in an egregious case of prosecutorial misconduct that Ms. Lynch has ignored and helps cover up. Mr. Stinn’s crime? Drawing his salary and a bonus voluntarily paid to him by his employer while those who committed frauds they admitted and hid from him went free because they “cooperated” with the prosecutors to nail the high value target—the “CEO.”

If Ms. Lynch is confirmed as Attorney General, she and Ms. Caldwell will be reunited at the head of the Department of Justice, where Ms. Caldwell is ensconced as head of the Criminal Division. Ms. Caldwell is infamous for many things, including the destruction of Arthur Andersen LLP and its 85,000 jobs—only to be reversed by the Supreme Court 9-0. Her record of injustice and reputation as a “terror” of a prosecutor only fueled her ascension in this administration—as did that of their third cohort—Andrew Weissmann.

Mr. Weissmann, now head of the corporate fraud section of the Department, helped annihilate Andersen—then headed the team that sent four Merrill Lynch executives to prison for a year on bogus charges while the prosecutors had yellow-highlighted but hidden the evidence that undermined and contradicted every aspect of their case against the Merrill executives who did not take a dime from anyone.

Lynch, Caldwell and Weissmann are a triumvirate of trouble for the rule of law. The three of them go way back in the Eastern District of New York, and they apparently share the same vision for truth and law enforcement—the rules don’t apply to them. They are all licensed to lie.

The Senators might want to think again, or we’ll be the fools—again.

Loretta Lynch’s Secret Docket

by Ryan Lovelace January 19, 2015 4:00 AM

There are allegations her U.S. Attorney’s Office is keeping cases quiet.

It should go without saying that the U.S. attorney general, as our nation’s chief law-enforcement officer, is expected to wield the Justice Department’s full powers to fight for those victimized by crime. It should also go without saying that federal prosecutors routinely make deals with criminals to secure convictions for other, larger crimes, or to save themselves time and the taxpayers' money — and that those criminals' victims sometimes come out the losers in such deals. Yet new evidence suggests that Loretta Lynch, President Obama's pick to take DOJ's reins from Eric Holder, may have gone beyond the accepted norms of prosecutorial conduct in her time in charge of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York. Lynch's office appears to have let self-professed criminals walk free in exchange for their cooperation with her office, watched impassively as they committed further crimes, and intentionally kept the victims of those crimes in the dark — denying them their chance to seek tens or hundreds of millions of dollars in restitution in direct contravention of federal law.

In April 2013, Paul Cassell, a former federal judge and law professor at the University of Utah, testified before the House Judiciary Committee, urging the committee to investigate potential wrongdoing by the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York in its handling of a stock-fraud case, U.S. v. John Doe. Though he didn't mention Lynch by name, Cassell alleged that her office had failed to comply with important provisions of the Crime Victims' Rights Act and the Mandatory Victims Restitution Act. The provisions require federal prosecutors to notify victims of criminal proceedings against those who wronged them, so as to guarantee them their legal right to pursue full and timely restitution against the accused. According to Cassell's testimony, the restitution in question amounted to over $40 million.

The Doe case began just before Lynch's first term in charge of the Eastern District. In 1998, Felix Sater — later revealed to be the "Doe" to whom the case refers — pleaded guilty to federal money-laundering and fraud charges in a RICO case, admitting that he had artificially inflated the price of stock he bought cheaply, defrauding investors and reaping millions of dollars in profit for himself. Then Sater, who has well-documented connections to the Mafia, apparently leveraged those connections to strike a deal.

In exchange for the government's protection in keeping his case sealed and secret, the New York Times reported in 2007, Sater may have worked with the CIA, offering to purchase a dozen missiles from Osama bin Laden on the black market. He also reportedly provided evidence against the Mafia. When Sater was eventually convicted in 2009, the government argued vociferously for leniency on his behalf at sentencing, and he served no time behind bars. Despite having previously signed a cooperation agreement with the Justice Department acknowledging that he owed $60 million in restitution, he was given a paltry $25,000 fine and told to forfeit his house in the Hamptons.

The lawyer who helped Sater obtain the lenient sentence was Leslie Caldwell, Loretta Lynch's former colleague in the U.S. Attorney's Office, who now heads the Justice Department's Criminal Division after being confirmed by the Senate just last year. Though Caldwell had been the senior trial counsel in the Business and Securities Fraud Section of the Eastern District U.S. Attorney's Office when the office first pursued Sater, she later represented him in court after joining a private firm. After his conviction, Sater said in a sworn deposition that Caldwell had counseled him not to disclose whether he had any previous criminal convictions, lest he risk self-incrimination. According to a recent lawsuit, Caldwell advised Sater to keep his mouth shut because he'd renewed his nefarious dealings in high finance after the government let him go free.

"Lynch — in order to get scalps — makes special deals with informants," says Richard Lerner, an attorney who is currently locked in an intense legal battle with Lynch's office over the release of sealed criminal records from the Sater case. Lerner has butted heads with the Justice Department at the behest of his client and fellow lawyer Frederick Oberlander, who sued Sater on behalf of fraud victims. The victims represented by Oberlander include those who were allegedly exploited after the government knew of his past crimes and let him walk anyway.

Oberlander alleges that after the government set Sater free with a slap on the wrist, he went right back to conning unsuspecting innocents. According to Oberlander's suit, Sater managed to build up a real-estate company, find investors, and secure funding from banks without disclosing his criminal past, and proceeded to defraud new victims of millions of dollars. Lynch then fought to keep the details of Sater's case secret, despite having issued a press release trumpeting his role in the crime for which he was convicted at the beginning of her first tenure as U.S. attorney.

The Supreme Court recently denied Oberlander's petition to force the release of the sealed records from Sater's case. But he claims the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Eastern District of New York facilitated and covered up Sater's crimes — before and during Lynch's two stints in charge — in exchange for Sater's cooperation.

Lynch's office did not return NRO's requests for comment and has kept quiet on the matter. A statement to NRO provided by Justice Department spokesman Brian Fallon highlights the Supreme Court's denial of Oberlander's petition last week and claims that 90 percent of "the material at issue" has been unsealed. "The complaints regarding the sealing of the materials in this case have already been litigated on no fewer than three prior occasions, and they have consistently been rejected," Fallon said. “Moreover, many of the key developments in this case occurred outside of Ms. Lynch’s two stints as U.S. Attorney.”

For their efforts to reveal the impropriety of the U.S. Attorney’s Office, Oberlander and Lerner are both being threatened with contempt charges. “Why in hell can’t she simply fix the mess instead of trying to cover it up and threaten us with jail if we tell anybody?” Oberlander asks. “There is something radically wrong there.”

Cassell, the former federal judge, tells NRO that he spoke out because he had the sense that the people involved — the prosecutors and the judge in Sater’s case — thought it was outrageous for the victims to expect that they would actually get their money back. “This case has what I would call a ‘business as usual’ feel to it, which leads me to think this is not a one-off, idiosyncratic kind of thing,” Cassell says. “It clearly looks like there’s the potential for this to be going on in a lot of other cases, and the problem of course is that since these cases are sealed, there’s no way for the victims to find out what’s happening, there’s no way for Congress to monitor how often this is being used.”

Cassell says he gets the sense that this is a problem that predates Lynch’s tenure, but other evidence suggests Lynch has made a habit of keeping Justice Department proceedings private. Louisiana senator David Vitter, a Republican member of the Judiciary Committee in charge of vetting Lynch’s nomination, has already expressed alarm at the possibility that she may be even more dangerous than Holder because of her restrained personality, which he worries will deflect attention from some of the Justice Department’s more outrageous actions. Luke Bolar, a Vitter spokesman, tells NRO in an e-mail that Lynch’s potential secret docket and possible failure to comply with federal law are huge concerns for the senator. Bolar says Vitter is also raising questions about why Lynch has sought to block the release of flood-insurance documents in another case, documents that he describes as “likely revealing widespread fraud perpetrated against victims of Superstorm Sandy.”

And Lynch’s questionable actions appear consistent with the playbook of Holder’s Justice Department, according to former federal prosecutor Sidney Powell. Powell sees disturbing parallels between Holder’s mishandling of the Fast and Furious scandal — in which the DOJ’s indifference allowed American guns to end up as weapons used by drug cartels against American citizens — and the conduct of Lynch’s office in looking the other way while cooperating criminals harmed more unsuspecting and innocent people. And even as she tells NRO that more information is needed about Lynch’s actions, Powell suspects that there are a lot of other cases involved.

"If they have literally been licensing people to go back on the street and commit additional crimes, she certainly should not be attorney general; she shouldn't even be U.S. attorney," Powell says. "That practice needs to be stopped."

Lynch will appear before the Senate Judiciary Committee for a hearing on her nomination later this month or in early February and can expect to face tough questions about her actions as U.S. attorney. In the meantime, Lerner and Oberlander tell NRO that they are calling on Lynch to appear at a press conference to address their questions.

LORETTA LYNCH

Washington (CNN) President Barack Obama blasted Friday the Senate for stalling on the nomination of Loretta Lynch to be the next attorney general.

"There are times where the dysfunction in the Senate just goes too far," Obama said during a joint White House press conference with Italian Prime Minister Matteo Renzi. "This is an example of it."

Lynch would be the first African American woman to lead the Justice Department. It has been 160 days since Obama nominated her on Nov. 8 and the delay in her confirmation is the longest since Ronald Reagan was in the White House..

Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell is using Lynch's nomination as leverage to push Democrats to drop a filibuster on an unrelated anti-human trafficking bill. Democrats object to that measure because it contains an abortion provision. McConnell has said he won't bring up Lynch for a vote until the dispute is resolved.

Obama called on Congress to move her nomination forward, saying that no one could articulate a reason beyond political gamesmanship as to why she has not been confirmed.

"Enough. Enough. Call Loretta Lynch for a vote, get her confirmed, let her do her job. This is embarrassing," Obama told reporters.

READ: Loretta Lynch Fast Facts

The moment was a particularly politically charged one during a press conference largely focused on international trade and the Iranian nuclear agreement.

Republicans in the Senate have yet to offer a timeline as to a possible vote on Lynch's confirmation, and Eric Holder continues to serve as Attorney General as her nomination stalls.

In response to the President's comments, McConnell's office reiterated that they are working towards a resolution on Lynch's nomination.

"The Leader has already announced that the Lynch nomination will get a vote. Members are continuing to work to find a way to overcome the Democrats' filibuster of a bipartisan bill that will help prevent women and children from being sold into sex slavery. Once that bill's complete, the Lynch nomination is next," McConnell's Deputy Chief of Staff Don Stewart told CNN.

RELATED: Jeb Bush: Loretta Lynch deserves a vote

Both Republican and Democratic leaders in the Senate maintain they are working towards a resolution on the sex-trafficking bill.

McConnell said Thursday bipartisan negotiations on an unrelated bill that has tied up the chamber "continue to make progress" and he hopes to pass the bill "early next week."

Minority Leader Harry Reid appeared to share McConnell's optimism Thursday.

"Ms. Lynch's nomination will not remain in purgatory forever," Reid said.

But for all the optimism on progress, the Senate wrapped up its business for the week Thursday without tackling Lynch's nomination.

Some Republicans in the House have defended the delay. Rep. Kevin Brady, a member of the Republican Study Committee said that while he believes that Lynch will eventually get a vote, the vetting process must be as thorough as possible.

"I certainly think they ought to have a right to actually examine her positions, her views. You know, the attorney general's office — which used to be an independent office that actually enforced the law — no longer is that," he told CNN on Friday, "so I actually think there's reasonable questions on both sides of the aisle about how the new attorney general will handle [issues]."

Loretta Lynch Vetting Underway, Wall Street Can't Wait.

— January 28, 2015

Loretta Lynch is on Capitol Hill today answering the questions of the Republican Senate Judicial Committee. While these Republicans are no doubt grilling Lynch on issues like Fast and Furious, immigration, and national security, what you shouldn't expect is anything different from Eric Holder on failing to prosecute the criminals on Wall Street.

As we've reported on previously, Lynch was a defender of white-collar criminals in the US.

After graduating from Harvard School of Law in 1984, Lynch started working for Cahill Gordon & Reindel as a litigation associate. Cahill is the law firm of renowned First Amendment attorney Floyd Abrams who defended the New York Times after publishing the Pentagon Papers.

As much as a step for journalism as that case was, decades later he was part of the Citizens United decision, arguing that “money is speech.” The case effectively put elections into the pockets of corporations. Cahill has defended the dirtiest of Wall Street criminals; AIG, HSBC, Credit Suisse, Bank of America, Goldman Sachs, and many more.

After an 11 year stint with the U.S. Attorney’s office in Brooklyn, Lynch worked white-collar criminal defense and corporate compliance at a firm then called Hogan & Hartson (recently renamed Hogan Lovells). The firm is based in Washington D.C. and concentrates on corporate and financial law.

She’s also served on the New York Federal Reserve where she continued to maintain the status quo.

Lynch has a long-standing relationship with high-ranking banksters. While on the New York Federal Reserve Board from 2003 to 2005, she served with former Citigroup chairman Sandy Weill and former Lehman Brothers CEO Richard Fuld. Sure, Lynch was a prosecuting attorney during the Citigroup securities fraud case, a $7 billion settlement, she still give the bank a pass with settlements paid by shareholders. No one went to jail and victims were not compensated. Lynch perpetuates the pay-to-play criminality of Wall Street banks.

So while it may be that Lynch is saying nice sounding phrases at her current hearing, let’s not forget where her true sympathies, and interests, lie.

Loretta Lynch questioned over secret deal depriving fraud victims of $40M

Probe of Obama attorney general nominee sought over secret deals for cooperators

Loretta Lynch more >

By Jim McElhatton - The Washington Times - Sunday, January 4, 2015

More than a year before President Obama nominated federal prosecutor Loretta Lynch to be attorney general, a former federal judge quietly called on Congress to investigate her U.S. attorney's office for trampling on victims' rights.

Paul Cassell, a law professor at the University of Utah, said Ms. Lynch's office, the U.S. Attorney for the Eastern District of New York, never told victims in a major stock fraud case that a culprit had been sentenced — denying them a chance to seek restitution of some $40 million in losses.

Mr. Cassell, in written remarks to a House Judiciary Committee panel in 2013, said if prosecutors were using secretive sentencing procedures to reward criminals for cooperating with them, it could violate the Crime Victims Restitution Act.

PHOTOS: Magazines can't agree on the sexiest woman alive; you be the judge

“Every day that the office withholds notice from the victims in this case about the continuing proceedings that are occurring in this case is a day in which the office is violating the CVRA,” he wrote, urging the subcommittee to conduct its own inquiry into Ms. Lynch’s office. The Judiciary Committee acknowledged in an email to The Washington Times that it never followed up to contact Ms. Lynch’s office, but added the panel “has not ruled out sending an inquiry to the U.S. attorney’s office regarding its handling of victims’ rights.” Ms. Lynch’s nomination to be attorney general will soon come before the Senate Judiciary Committee, now controlled by Republicans, and the case could surface as a topic of inquiry.

PHOTOS: Gone too soon: Stars who died young

“I do think it’s something that the Senate should be investigating as part of the confirmation process,” Mr. Cassell said in an interview. Meanwhile, a lawyer has filed a Supreme Court petition to force more records in the criminal case to be unsealed, charging that Ms. Lynch’s office has failed to explain secret deals it gives cooperators. “These deals, indisputably in defiance of mandatory federal forfeiture and restitution laws, allow cooperators to keep the proceeds of their crimes in exchange for their cooperation and keep their reputation intact, hidden behind secret dockets,” said attorney Frederick Oberlander, who has sued the businessman on behalf of fraud victims. Brian Fallon, a Justice Department spokesman, said in a statement that the Supreme Court petition “raises no claims of any merit.” “Many of these claims have already been litigated on no fewer than three prior occasions, and each time the courts have rejected them,” he said. “One court went so far as to warn the petitioner against any future frivolous findings or else potentially face court-imposed sanctions.” The petition isn’t the first time that Mr. Oberlander and his attorney, Richard Lerner, have sought to pry loose sealed records in the long and complicated case of Felix Sater, the businessman at the center of the stock fraud. Pump and Dump Sater pleaded guilty in 1998 in a racketeering stock “pump and dump” fraud scheme, but his case remained on a secret docket in federal court in Brooklyn, New York, as he cooperated with the government in other investigations, court records show. The secrecy surrounding the 1998 criminal case allowed Sater to resume “his old tricks” and defraud new victims of hundreds of millions of dollars, Mr. Oberlander charged in a civil rackeering lawsuit he filed against Sater in recent years. An attorney for Sater disputes that account, saying his client has been a “model citizen.”

When he sued, Mr. Oberlander included leaked copies of Sater’s pre-sentencing report and a copy cooperation deal for the 1998 case, which were under seal. The disclosure set off a fierce and contentious legal battle between federal prosecutors and Mr. Oberlander and his attorney, Richard Lerner, who both have faced a contempt investigation after the disclosure. Eventually, more than a decade after his guilty plea, Sater was sentenced and fined $25,000 in a hearing that took place without notice to victims shortly before Ms. Lynch took over the U.S. Attorney’s Office for the Eastern District of New York, according to records.

In court papers, Mr. Oberlander and Mr. Lerner noted that Sater faced nearly 20 years in prison and a mandatory $40 million in restitution and $80 million forfeiture, but the sentencing judge imposed no restitution or confinement. And victims weren’t at the hearing to object because they were never told about the sentencing in the first place, according to the attorneys’ Supreme Court petition.

Ms. Lynch wasn’t U.S. attorney during the sentencing hearing, but her office has since fought efforts to unseal records in the case.

Mr. Fallon also said many of the key developments in the case “occurred outside of Ms. Lynch’s stints as U.S. attorney,” first in 1999 and again in 2010. Still, court records show numerous examples of Ms. Lynch’s office pushing to keep details about the case from becoming public. The government’s arguments for keeping records sealed — many of them redacted or under seal — have been upheld in rulings by the U.S. District Court in Brooklyn and by the Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit despite arguments pushing for more transparency from victims’ rights and press groups.

‘Most serious matters of national security’

Robert Wolf, an attorney for Sater, said his client provided “extraordinary cooperation” after his 1998 guilty plea, including working on “the most serious matters of national security, battling our greatest enemies at tremendous risk to his own life and for the benefits of all citizens of our country.”

In an email, Mr. Wolf called the $25,000 fine Sater was ordered to pay “more than merited” and a “measure of gratitude” for unspecified cooperation that saved “potentially tens of thousands, if not millions, of our citizens’ lives.”

Neither Sater’s lawyer nor the Justice Department would discuss the nature of his cooperation.

Mr. Wolf said Sater has gone on to build a business and has been a “model citizen.”

“From job creation to philanthropy, Mr. Sater has been clear of all legal allegations,” he said.

Mr. Wolf also discounted what he called “sham concerns” about victims’ rights, accusing the attorneys suing Sater of a “legal shakedown” aimed at using the threat of public disclosure to force a lucrative settlement deal.

Mr. Oberlander, however, said in an email that the case provides a troubling example of prosecutors evading federal forfeiture and restitution laws as a reward for cooperation.

“And Ms. Lynch’s office refuses to notify crime victims of their restitution rights when restitution and notice to victims are mandatory under federal law,” he said.

Mr. Lerner said the Sater case was “no mere aberration,” charging that “Ms. Lynch’s success as a prosecutor has been dependent upon her office’s repudiation of constitutional and statutory law.”

The Supreme Court petition filed by Mr. Lerner of behalf of Mr. Oberlander also details the involvement in the Sater case of two other Justice Department officials — Marshall Miller, principal deputy assistant attorney general in the criminal division, and Leslie Caldwell, assistant attorney general in the criminal division.

Mr. Miller was the victims' rights coordinator for the federal prosecutor's office in Brooklyn, while Ms. Caldwell, a former prosecutor in the office, later represented Sater at his sentencing.

At the sentencing hearing, Ms. Caldwell said Sater was "really deserving of the full measure of leniency" given the "extraordinary circumstances of his cooperation," according to transcripts.

Outside concerns

While attorneys debate Sater's sentencing deal, two outside groups — the Reporters Committee for the Freedom of the Press and the National Organization for Victim Assistance — have filed briefs in recent years pushing for more transparency in Sater's case and questioning whether the secrecy has limited public oversight and stifled the voice of victims.

In a May letter to judges on the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, attorneys for the Reporters Committee said they first challenged the "super sealing" of the Sater case in 2012.

Some records were later unsealed in March 2013, but the district court left about 25 percent of the records under seal after secret "ex parte" meetings closed to the press, public and the attorneys who were seeking to unseal the documents, according to the committee.

Ms. Lynch's office argued that Sater's safety was one consideration for sealing, but the Reporters Committee said the information about his case already was available and the subject of media reports, which undercut that argument.

"When the press and public have no way of holding courts accountable for giving informants special treatment, secret defendants can abuse the system and endanger the public," Bruce D. Brown, the committee's executive director, wrote in a letter in May.

In 2012, two years into Ms. Lynch's tenure at U.S. attorney, Mr. Cassell filed a separate brief on behalf of the National Organization for Victim Assistance. They argued that Ms. Lynch's office appeared intent on preventing the public from learning anything about how prosecutors treated crime victims in the case.

The victims' rights group said it had asked Ms. Lynch's office whether it followed through on restitution for crime victims as the law requires in the case. The group received no explanation other than a brief email to Mr. Cassell saying the office "complied in all aspects of the law."

"At this point," the attorneys argued, "the government is using the alleged sealing orders it may (or may not) have obtained in this case not as a legitimate law enforcement tool but rather as an excuse for obscuring what happened."

Mr. Cassell a year later asked the House Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on the Constitution to inquire into the matter. But that didn't happen.

In a statement, the Judiciary Committee said it incorporated Mr. Cassell's concerns into legislation improving services for crime victims at all federal prosecutors' offices. But the House panel never contacted Ms. Lynch's office directly.

"The committee takes such requests seriously, and the precedent is often to use alternate strategies other than a formal congressional inquiry," the committee said in an email statement — though the committee said it “is also open to examining this issue further and has not ruled out sending an inquiry to the U.S. attorney’s office regarding its handling of victims’ rights.”

BREAKING: Was Loretta Lynch Complicit in Wrongful Conviction Cover-up?

The AG nominee charms Senators while innocent man languishes in prison

By Sidney Powell | 02/12/15 5:40pm

Comment

Just last week, Loretta Lynch assured the Senators of the Judiciary Committee that she would be different from Eric Holder. She said she would make a “full and fair review of every matter” brought before her.

Loretta Lynch smiled warmly at the Senators. Deftly parrying the hard questions, she pledged to be independent and follow the rule of law. Yet while she convincingly promised to “seek Justice—not convictions,” an innocent father of three languished in his sixth year of prison as a result of egregious injustice at the hands of prosecutors from her district and a complete system breakdown.

We have learned that she knows about and has refused to acknowledge—much less address—these wrongs. Indeed, at least two former United States Attorneys can attest to this extraordinary injustice and her refusal to resolve it. She would not respond to them herself, and her subordinates see nothing wrong with the prosecution or its result.

This case of prosecutorial misconduct, abuse of power, and judicial complicity was brought to me by a friend. It illustrates everything that can and does go wrong in our criminal justice system: politically motivated prosecutions; targeting of individuals; over-criminalization (making a crime out of business judgment, innocent mistakes, or less); abusive and headline-grabbing prosecutors gone wild; negligent, complicit or flat-out biased judges. The results aren’t pretty: a family devastated, lives ruined, and the needless, long-term imprisonment of someone who was and still should be a productive, tax-paying member of our society.

Rabid prosecutors from the Eastern District of New York—now Ms. Lynch’s office—brought this case as part of the massive effort of the Corporate Fraud Task Force formed by the Department of Justice in July 2002. That Task Force racked up 1300 convictions of businessmen in six years, appeasing the outrage after the implosion of Enron. Like the Enron Task Force, they were given extraordinary resources, and their mission was to target high-profile individuals and companies. The highest value targets had CEO or CFO behind their names.

Bradley Stinn was the Chief Executive Officer of Friedman’s Jewelers. Brad is the father of three children. He was their athletic coach, a devoted husband, and well-respected citizen. He has been in federal prison for six years now on a trumped-up case built on smoke and tied with baling wire by prosecutors known for their abusive, roughshod tactics. Prosecutors were determined to extract the pound of flesh from Bradley Stinn—and they’ve done more than that. His wife and three children have been devastated.

Mr. Stinn did not take a dime from anyone, and he didn’t sell a share of his stock. The charges of wire fraud, securities fraud, and mail fraud, which require theft of money or property, were based on him receiving his salary and a bonus—knowingly paid to him by the company. He did not steal those—and the statutes don’t criminalize people’s salaries and bonuses. If they did, everyone is a criminal.

Not only did Mr. Stinn not steal anything, he lost heavily when Friedman Jewelers’ stock eventually went down. Ironically, he was required to pay “restitution” in excess of $4 million, although he took nothing from anyone. The Stinns were forced to sell their home, and their savings were wiped out. His wife and three children now live with relatives and face every day without the husband and father they love.

Indicted by United States Attorney Benton Campbell, a member of the notorious Enron Task Force cabal about which I have written at length, Assistant United States Attorneys Seth Levine and then Scott Klugman used every trick in their dirty books. They threatened to prosecute witnesses who would have testified in defense of Brad Stinn. The prosecutors yelled, screamed, and intimidated people at will. They refused to provide documents that were favorable to the defense—with rare exceptions, which they grudgingly produced and heavily redacted.

It appears that the government's case was a sham—enabled by a federal judge who, despite her generally good reputation, in this case seemed biased at best. As in the prosecutions of Senator Ted Stevens and the Merrill defendants in my book Licensed to Lie, it was the prosecutors who were running a fraud. And as in the Merrill case, the judge appears to have been running a railroad, and the Second Circuit panel just rode the train.

Peeved with the defense overall, Judge Nina Gershon sentenced Bradley Stinn to twelve years in prison, while those who admitted committing multiple real frauds, lying, cheating and stealing, walked out of the courtroom with sentences of probation. Justice for all?

At least three outstanding lawyers, two of whom are former United States Attorneys, repeatedly wrote the various United States Attorneys including Ms. Lynch, the Solicitor General, Attorney General Holder, and the Department of Justice Office of Professional Responsibility, pleading for review of the outrageous conduct, suppression of evidence believed favorable to the defense, and the barbaric sentence imposed in this case.

Two former United States Attorneys wrote Ms. Lynch specifically. One of them had been her supervisor. Rather than examine the case for misconduct, order the release of the files, agree to support vacating or reducing the twelve-year sentence, or take any other investigative or corrective action, Ms. Lynch did not even reply.

Neither did Attorney General Holder, and the Department's "Office of Professional Responsibility" refused to investigate because no judge had found any misconduct. (Wait for Parts II and III of this series).

As a "favor" to one of the former United States Attorneys, Ms. Lynch's subordinates, prosecutors James McGovern, Marshall Miller, and Ilene Jaroslaw, did speak by telephone with him. They were adamant that nothing was wrong in this prosecution, and they shifted the burden to the defense to "come up with something to chew on."

That's difficult to do when even the SEC, which decided not to file so much as a civil complaint against Brad Stinn, refuses to release the documents that caused it to decline any case against him. And of course, Ms. Lynch's office still refuses to release notes, grand jury testimony, and unredacted information of inconsistent statements by their "cooperating" witnesses—the admitted liars, thieves, and fraudsters to whom they gave "get out of jail free cards." The prosecutors had even instructed agents not to take notes of "cooperators'" statements.

According to well-respected attorneys, it is common knowledge that the Eastern District of New York engages in such abusive and wrongful tactics. In fact, many of the prosecutors there are proud of it. If a criminal "cooperates" in the Eastern District of New York—which means saying what the prosecutors want said—then the cooperator gets his "get out of jail free" card.

So as Ms. Lynch awaits her confirmation as our new Attorney General, Brad Stinn is helping other inmates get their GED in prison. He faces an additional six years for receiving his agreed compensation. His wife and his children are forced to bear the unbearable pain of his absence from their daily lives and his unjust imprisonment.

The mob mentality of Eastern District of New York is already running the Department of Justice. If confirmed as Attorney General, Ms. Lynch will join a cabal of former Eastern District of New York prosecutors—her colleagues who proudly used these abusive tactics. She goes way back with them. Mr. Obama and Mr. Holder have stacked the Department hierarchy with prosecutors known as “terrors”—including Leslie Caldwell, head of the criminal division, and Andrew Weissmann, now chief of the powerful fraud section—gearing up for War on Wall Street (and Main Street) Part II.

Abusive and wrongful prosecutions cut across party, political, and socio-economic lines. Innocent people are imprisoned while families are destroyed. The Innocence Project and other good lawyers are freeing people weekly who have lost the better part of their lives in prison for crimes they did not commit. It is far too hard to correct these injustices.

The notion that everyone in prison deserves to be there has taken a beating lately. The subject of the megahit podcast Serial, Adnan Syed, was just granted an appeal after 15 years in prison. And the New York Times recently published a piece entitled “The dollar value of a stolen life” a story arising from New York’s recent payment of $17 million dollars to three men who spent a combined 60 years in prison—wrongly convicted by Ms. Lynch’s now infamous counterpart in the Brooklyn District Attorney’s office.

There is no similar remedy against federal prosecutors yet. Bradley Stinn can’t even get the evidence and grand jury transcripts that will likely exonerate him. What will it take? Who will stop this?

Senators, take note.

If Ms. Lynch meant what she said in her confirmation hearings, she should produce all of the Stinn files now—including the grand jury transcripts and the documents from the SEC—and agree to Brad Stinn’s immediate release from prison. Perhaps the Senators will demand the documents.

It’s time to let Justice roll . . . like a mighty stream.

Sidney Powell worked in the Department of Justice for 10 years and was lead counsel in more than 500 federal appeals. She served nine U.S. Attorneys from both political parties and is the author of Licensed to Lie: Exposing Corruption in the Department of Justice.

AG Holder Tied to Indicted Ga. Abortionist

By Ian Tuttle

June 17, 2013 5:34 PM

Pro-life groups argue that Attorney General Eric Holder's Justice Department has been assiduous in its efforts to prosecute pro-life advocates who (legally) counsel women outside of abortion clinics, but considerably less dogged in prosecuting the abortionists inside — and they are pointing to a recent revelation as a possible reason why. Watchdog.org reports:

In October, 2010 -2013 Watchdog.org published Fulton County tax records showing Holder's wife, Dr. Sharon Malone Holder — an obstetric and gynecological doctor at Foxhall OB/GYN in Washington, D.C. — and her sister, Margie Malone Tuckson, manage a family trust that owns the building where Malloy operated. A statement from the Georgia Department of Law revealed the building was home to Old National Gynecology, the medical practice where [abortionist Tyrone Cecil] Malloy performed abortions.

Today the Georgia Supreme Court declined to dismiss charges against Malloy, who allegedly accepted more than $380,000 in federal payments for pre-abortion ultrasounds that he never performed and for abortions that did not qualify for Medicaid reimbursement. Malloy was indicted on two counts of Medicaid fraud in 2011, alongside CathyAnn Warner, the former office manager of Old National Gynecology.

Nor are these Malloy's first scrapes with medical law: In 1999, one of Malloy's patients lost her baby shortly after birth; examiners faulted Malloy's subpar treatment. In 2008, one of his patients died on the table following a botched abortion. Malloy was fined and reprimanded in both cases, but was permitted to continue practicing.

As for the Holder link, the trust that owns the property is blind, meaning that a third party manages investments for the actual owner. Ms. Tuckson has pointed out that she and her sister "are not technically the owners of that property." While they may not "technically" own the property, they are the only two trustees on the family trust that does, as Fulton County documents attest.

Blind trusts are a familiar source of political sniping; they are popular with politicians from Ted Kennedy to Mitt Romney. That may explain why, as Human Events notes, "Holder did not disclose his wife's co-ownership of the building in the financial disclosure reports he filed between 2008 through 2012 with the U.S. Office of Government Ethics." Pro-life groups, however, argue that Holder has made a concerted effort to conceal a conflict of interest.

Naturally, there may be nothing untoward in all of this, except perhaps a want of forthrightness. But given Holder's record on issues of full disclosure, the possibility of a conflict of interest ought to garner at least a bit of careful consideration.

Eric Holder's Wife Sharon Malone Holder: Co-Owner Of Clinic Engaging In Apparent Non-Legal Abortion Activity

While the media and the administration continue to stand by without covering, denouncing or even commenting on the brutal, heinous and disgusting abortionist Kermit Gosnell's murder trial, information has uncovered that Eric Holder's wife, Sharon Malone Holder, a practicing OB/Gyn, co-owns an Atlanta area abortion clinic building with her sister, where an abortion doctor is under indictment for Medicaid fraud.

The Gosnell investigation and trial has further uncovered many other unscrupulous, murderous and law-breaking abortion mills in our nation, and therefore poses an extreme threat to the viscous feminist lie that abortions, when "legal, accessible, government funded and affordable," are also safe.

The administration, along with their Marxist partners in crime in the mainstream media, have been completely silent about the atrocities occurring at the Gosnell "house of horrors", because they are large beneficiaries of the infanticide loving Planned Parenthood, and likewise profit the cause of abortion all the way to the White House.

Now, we have further proof that the cause of murdering the nations pre-born, primarily black children; though once the cause and brain-child of Margaret Sanger, has been taken over by the Obama administration and Eric Holder. Life Site News and Watchdog.org, have been investigating this connection, to find the administration operates with such furor and motivation to see abortions continuing, that our nation's own Attorney General is married to a woman who owns a building where apparently non-legal abortion activity is occurring.

Watchdog.org reporter Troy Anderson's article, reprinted in Human Events, explains why this makes so much sense given Holder's and the DOJ choice to disregard and ignore extreme cases of abortion improprieties at clinics around the country:

Critics say it may also explain why Holder has been eager to prosecute pro-life advocates who counsel women outside abortion clinics....

“There is a clear conflict of interest when the man charged with pursuing those that abuse the system is also one who is engaged in some way with the business,” said Davis, whose organization brought the issue to the attention of Watchdog....

In recent months, judges have blocked Holder’s efforts to punish pro-life supporters counseling women outside abortion clinics. In one case, Holder’s Department of Justice agreed to pay Mary “Susan” Pine $120,000 for its filing of an “improper lawsuit” against her, according to a statement by Liberty Counsel, an Orlando, Fla.-based nonprofit legal firm. Pine counseled women on the sidewalk outside a Florida abortion clinic....

Karen Handel, the former secretary of state in Georgia and a former senior vice president of public policy for the Susan G. Komen Center, said she was “shocked” by the findings of the Watchdog investigation.

*“It certainly underscores the deep ties the Obama Administration has to the abortion issue,” said Handel, author of the new book, Planned Bullyhood: The Truth Behind the Headlines about the Planned Parenthood Funding Battle with Susan G. Komen for the Cure.*

“This certainly seems to shed some additional light into why Obama and his team seem obsessed with protecting Planned Parenthood and abortion rights at the expense of other important issues in the country.”...

Davis pointed to cases in which activists have sued Planned Parenthood for alleged Medicaid fraud – in Georgia, Iowa, Texas, New York, and Massachusetts – but where Holder’s Justice Department has failed to act.

“The U.S. attorney general has not at all pursued a case against any of them, including this one in Georgia where his wife owns the property,” Davis said.

It's clear the administration has motives to keep even "unsafe and illegal" abortion mills running for profit, by ignoring that there is no safe, and no constitutionally legal abortion, while a deafening silence falls on the victims and lies perpetrated by the pro-infanticide movement. Their hypocrisy with "civil rights" is clear and the silence on the death of millions of pre-born babies of every color (mostly black babies) and their mothers who are being butchered, scarred and maimed, proves they care nothing about civil rights or lives. They care merely for their pocketbooks, and for furthering their Marxist agenda, with roots deep into the desire for population control and eugenics.

God knows their motivations, and He hears the cries of the killed. Their blood cries out, and be assured, though most of those who value life feel helpless, remember His justice and wrath will pour out on those who shed the blood of the innocent.

"Do this so that innocent blood will not be shed in your land, which the LORD your God is giving you as your inheritance, and so that you will not be guilty of bloodshed." Deuteronomy 19:10

MEDICAIDE FRAUD

Eric Holder's Abortion Connection Just Tip of Obama Iceberg

Eric Holder is Barack Obama's attorney general. He sits in Obama's Cabinet. And if an article released by the journal Human Events is correct, Holder's wife and sister-in-law rented space in a building they own through a family trust to an abortionist. And not just any abortionist, but one indicted for two counts of Medicaid fraud and twice reprimanded by the Georgia medical board, according to the Human Events article.

The article, written by Troy Anderson and Will Swain of Watchdog.org, describes the Atlanta-area abortionist, Tyrone Cecil Malloy, as "notorious."

Next to the president himself, the attorney general is the top law enforcement officer in the nation. The abortion issue aside, the attorney general of the United States should have no association, however direct or indirect, with anyone having even the appearance of being fraudulent. The fact that close family members, according to Fulton County (Georgia) tax records cited in the Human Events story, owned the building where Malloy ran his abortion business raises questions of propriety and judgment that Administrations normally try to avoid like the plague.

But this is only the latest example of high officials in Obama's government tied to abortion. His Administration has many entangling alliances with the abortion industry, and has had them right from the start.

Only two weeks after he won the 2008 presidential election, Obama named the former legal director of the abortion lobbying group NARAL Pro-Choice America, Dawn Johnsen, to the team that reviews applicants for jobs in the Justice Department.

Jobs were also found for several former officials of Planned Parenthood, the nation's largest abortion business. Planned Parenthood's former media director, Tait Sye, was named deputy assistant secretary for public affairs at the Department of Health and Human Services, the department responsible for overseeing Obamacare.

And Obama tapped a former Planned Parenthood board member for a judgeship on a federal court of appeals, and a Planned Parenthood official to run his campaign in the battleground state of North Carolina.

But these aren't the only pro-abortion groups to get favor in employment from the Administration. Ellen Moran, former director of the pro-abortion political action committee EMILY'S List, was appointed by Obama to be White House Communications Director. And former EMILY's List board member Melody Barnes was named to head Obama's Domestic Policy Council.

Some of these positions are influential posts from which to advise on sensitive policy matters. This shows once again how very important it is to elect a pro-life president if we are going to institute policies that protect the unborn.

CLICK LIKE IF YOU'RE PRO-LIFE!

These last days are our chance to elect that pro-life president, Mitt Romney. And I ask you to do all you can. First, please vote. Then make sure your family members and pro-life friends all vote as well. If you know anyone who is not sure how they're going to vote, please give them information from this series of 54 Reasons to Defeat Barack Obama, which you can view at www.54Reasons.com.

Victory is truly within our grasp, we all just need to stretch a bit more to reach it! Please help, and thank you for all you're doing to make this a better, safer world for the unborn babies we are all working to save!

1. BUSH CRIME FAMILY
2. How the Bush Crime Syndicate funneled foreign cash into the U.S. political system in Florida

Experienced federal investigators, acting independently, have discovered a covert funding channel used by the 2000 and 2004 Bush-Cheney campaigns and the administrations of Jeb Bush in Florida and Bob Taft in Ohio to illegally funnel foreign and other questionable money into Republican coffers.

Ever since the brutal death of Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) investigator Ray Lemme in July 2003, the focus of investigators in Florida and Georgia has been on the political scandal Lemme was uncovering. After his official investigation of contract fraud, money laundering, illegal immigration, and election fraud was shut down on orders of Jeb Bush, Lemme continued to investigate the use of FDOT to launder cash for the Bush brothers and their allies. Lemme's focus was on the use of the Florida Turnpike system to launder cash for the Jeb and George W. Bush campaigns. It was an investigation that would ultimately lead to Lemme's body being discovered in a motel room bathtub in Valdosta, Georgia. A two-state police cover-up of Lemme's death, threats directed at Florida and Georgia investigators, and a virtual media blackout indicates that the GOP administrations of Jeb Bush and Georgia's Sonny Perdue wanted the Lemme story to go away—and fast.

The reason for the cover-up of Lemme's reported "suicide" is simple. Investigators have now discovered that foreign cash, including , Saudi, and Nigerian money, was laundered via the biggest state-run cash cow in Florida—the Florida Turnpike system. Because most of the transactions involving Florida's toll roads involve cash and huge amounts of it, it was easy for foreign and other questionable money to be laundered via FDOT.

Lemme had reportedly become aware of the use of FDOT to commit criminal acts. Valdosta, where Lemme went to meet a still unknown source, is a key center for international organized criminal activity, including illegal foreign worker smuggling, involving close political allies of George W. and Jeb Bush.

From Dec. 6, 2004 article "Texas to Florida: White House-linked clandestine operation paid for "vote switching" software," Yang's [Yang Enterprises] questionable billing activities with its Florida DOT contract came to the attention of Ray C. Lemme, a seasoned senior investigator with the Florida DOT Inspector General's Office and a combat veteran of the Vietnam War. Lemme had a lot of evidence to suspect that Yang was overbilling the DOT for "millions." After discovering Yang's dirty laundry, Curtis went to work for the DOT. Mavis Georgalis, the DOT's contracting officer for the Yang contract, was also aware of improprieties with the contract. As a result of pressure from the Florida State House, both Curtis and Georgalis were eventually fired by the DOT because of their complaints about the Yang contract. Someone was obviously trying to send Curtis a message when, on August 14, 2002, he discovered that someone poisoned his pet Pomeranian dog, Emily. Lemme was forced to stop his official investigation of Yang for similar reasons. However, he decided to continue an "unofficial" investigation of Yang and its practices on the side. It was a fateful decision.

According to DOT employees familiar with the Yang case, Lemme was aware that it was Jeb Bush who personally shut down his investigation of Yang. Lemme also leaked details concerning his investigation to the Daytona Beach News Journal. The investigator had previously requested a full audit of the Yang contract with the DOT, a request that was denied. Lemme also became aware of something else outside the framework of the DOT contract—that Yang had been involved in producing a prototype vote switching program for use with touch screen voting machines and that Tom Feeney was in on the scam. The last time Clint Curtis spoke to Lemme, he remembers the silver haired investigator excited about where his case was leading. Lemme told Curtis that the cover up of Yang was coming from "as high up as I could imagine" and that he had "proof" that was "shocking."

On Sunday, June 29, 2003, evidence indicates that Lemme drove from Tallahassee to Valdosta, Georgia, the home of Moody Air Force Base. A motel receipt indicated that Lemme checked in at the Knight's Inn off Interstate 75 at 6:49 p.m. Lemme's wife said that her husband left home for work on Monday, June 30, at 5:15 a.m., an hour earlier than usual. According to a Leon County Sheriff's report, Lemme's wife said she received a voice message after she returned home at 6:45 p.m. on Monday. The message was from her husband's supervisor, Bob Clift, who informed her that earlier in the day, at 6:15 a.m., Lemme called into work, left a message, and said he would not be coming to work that day. Clift said he was checking up on Ray Lemme. Mrs. Lemme called Clift and told him that her husband was not at home. Mrs. Lemme told police that her husband was working on a "big case." Mrs. Lemme filed a missing person report with the Leon County, Sheriff's Office. Clift later determined that Ray Lemme made his earlier call to work at 6:15 a.m., one hour after he supposedly left his home for work, from a pay phone at the junction of Interstate 10 and Highway 1 in Jefferson County, Florida. Shortly after 11:00 a.m. on Tuesday, July 1, the maid assigned to clean Lemme's room—132—received no answer when she knocked. The door was locked. There was no response when the maid called the room's telephone. The hotel manager then called the police.

The following is from the Valdosta Police Detective Report filed by Detective Craig Spencer and dated July 1, 2003: "On July 1, 2003 at approximately 1330 hours, I received a page advising me to be en route to Knights Inn at 2110 West Hill Avenue in reference to an unattended death." When Spencer and other police officers and detectives arrived at the motel, the manager told them that the occupant of Room 132, Ray Lemme, was to have checked out by 11a.m. The officers yelled through the slightly ajar door but received no answer and they discovered the upper swing latch was locked. The officers used a special tool provided by the motel to open the swing latch lock. Spencer said that one of the officers entered the room and found a suicide note and then proceeded to the bathroom where Lemme was found dead in the bathtub. Police also discovered that the inside of Lemme's left elbow—the cubital tunnel—was slashed. There were spurts of blood on the wall but no blood found on the floor. A belt possibly used as a tourniquet and a double-edged straight razor blade were found on the side of the tub. A bath towel was unfolded and neatly placed on the floor next to the tub.

Later on July 1, the Georgia Bureau of Investigation Crime Laboratory in Moultrie informed the Valdosta Police that based on the "suicide" details, no autopsy would be performed on Lemme. Unlike Florida, Georgia does not perform mandatory autopsies. A doctor, with 25 years' clinical experience, who was interviewed for this story, claimed that the circumstances of Lemme's death appeared to him to be a classic "mob hit." If the Leon County Sheriff missing person report is to be believed, it is clear that someone other than Lemme checked into the Valdosta motel on Sunday evening using his name. Clearly, the Leon County Sheriff's report contains a number of details that directly conflict with facts found in the Valdosta Police report. In addition, the Lowndes County, Georgia, Coroner's report fails to indicate an estimated time of death based on a full medical examination—it surmised that the time of death was the same time as indicated on the suicide note: 8:10 a.m. on July 1.

An empty manila folder and a blank legal pad notebook were found on the hotel room's desk along with an undated and unsigned suicide note written on lined paper, which lacked any identifiable fingerprints, from Lemme's day planner. The note merely contained the time 8:10 a.m. with the following notation: "I love my family (family underlined once) with all my heart. I am sorry. I am depressed and in pain. Mary Ann (Lemme's wife), I love you." ("I love you" underlined twice). It was certainly not indicative of a person who was ecstatic that he was finally going to nail a long investigation that involved vote rigging, overbilling, and fraud abetted by the very top political leadership in Tallahassee. Interestingly, the last number on Lemme's pager (an 850 960-XXXX) ended with the number "911."

8. It is also interesting that Lemme's watch, when discovered by the police, was stopped at 12:34 p.m. on June 30—a possible indication that Lemme was trying to convey the time of a possible in extremis situation. Also, Lemme's Florida driver's license was in his room while his wallet was in the glove box of his car, which was parked in front of the room. Two motel receipts were found in Lemme's room by the police. One was a check-in receipt dated June 29 and timed at 6:44 p.m. The other was a receipt, without a notation of check-in or check-out, dated June 30 and timed at 6:54 a.m. A witness told police that Lemme's car was parked in front of his room on the afternoon of June 30.

Sergeant Eugene Bell of the Valdosta Police Department interviewed a 39-year old female guest who was staying in Room 236 over the weekend. She and her daughter noticed three men standing in the parking lot across from Lemme's room at 8 a.m. on the morning of July 1. The behavior of the men made the guest suspicious enough that the woman initially believed the men were engaged in a drug deal. According to the police report, the camera used to photograph the crime scene was later discovered to have a defect in the flash memory card. The defect resulted in no usable photographs being submitted with the official police report.

Later, veteran GAO and FBI investigative specialist John Caylor discovered that the Valdosta Police story about a defective digital camera memory stick and the purported lack of crime scene photos of Lemme's motel room was a ruse. Caylor was able to obtain the crime scene photos of Lemme from the Valdosta Police. Lemme's body, found in Room 132 of the Knights Inn bathtub, clearly shows that he was brutally beaten and strangled prior to his death—reported by police to have been from a self-inflicted razor cut to his arm.

It is unlikely that Lemme, who told former FDOT and Yang programmer Clint Curtis that he was on the verge of cracking a huge case that went straight "to the top," would have traveled to a state like Georgia, where autopsies are not mandatory, to commit suicide. Moreover, Lemme drove a beeline route to Valdosta, an indication that he was anxious to meet with his "source." Lemme had been informed that a Chinese sub-contract programmer for Yang named Henry Nee (aka Hai Lin Nee), who had been busted by Immigration and Customs Enforcement officers for illegally transferring missile parts to China, had been given the Social Security number of an Iowa resident. Although Nee had only been in the United States for five years, his Social Security number from Iowa had been issued to another individual 24 years earlier. Valdosta is a center for illegal smuggling and it was this nexus of illegal alien smuggling and money laundering that attracted Lemme to the city.

After Lemme's death, Valdosta criminal activities and bribes paid to Florida politicians became the subject of a grand jury investigation run by US Attorney for Northwest Florida Greg Miller. Miller's investigation reportedly dovetailed with Lemme's probe of money laundering involving FDOT and Florida turnpike receipts. The chairman of the Florida Transportation Commission, who has control of FDOT and the turnpike system, is Earl K. Durden, a major GOP player in Florida who is close to both Jeb and George W. Bush. Durden was appointed to the Transportation Commission post by Jeb Bush. When Miller's investigation of money laundering was leaked, it was George W. Bush who personally flew to Florida from Washington to close down the entire probe.

Eight Florida Panhandle counties west of Tallahassee (Bay, Gulf, Okaloosa, Walton, Holmes, Washington, Santa Rosa, and Escambia) and the border counties of Georgia (Lowndes, Echols, Brooks, Thomas, Grady and Decatur) and Alabama (Houston, Geneva, Covington, Escambia, and Baldwin) have long been centers of illicit Bush activities dating back to the Iran-contra and savings and loan failures. Lowndes County, where Valdosta is located, is a major center for Bush-connected criminal activity. Gulf and Bay counties are centers for Jeb Bush-connected organized crime activity.

Now comes word that "Coingate" in Ohio is tied to the same criminal elements in the GOP that were responsible for turnpike toll money laundering in Florida. Durden's counterpart in Ohio, Tommy Noe, a Bush "Pioneer" contributor whom Gov. Taft appointed to the Ohio Turnpike Commission, is in the center of a major scandal involving missing state funds invested in rare coins and baseball cards. Shortly after the Toledo Blade began reporting on the Ohio coin scandal, Noe resigned from the turnpike commission.

An additional investigation of missing Ohio state revenue is focused on millions of state dollars invested in a hedge fund. Federal investigators are investigating charges that Noe laundered some of the missing $12 million from the state's coin fund into the Bush 2004 campaign. Mr. Bush has returned a mere $4,000 from Noe's contributions. Ohio and Florida were the scenes of major election fraud in 2004. It now appears that both states laundered hundreds of millions of dollars to engage in massive fraud involving all sectors of state government, from election officials and secretaries of state to state auditors and attorneys general.

Ohio and Florida have the highest turnpike toll rates in the nation coupled with the least oversight. Both states, rife with political corruption fostered by the patrician Republican Taft and Bush families, are now the center of Coingate scandals tied to political chicanery and money laundering.

Manhattan's veteran District Attorney Robert Morgenthau is on the verge of penetrating a major conduit for foreign money into the Bush family network and the American political system that parallels the campaign finance scandals in Ohio and Florida. Morgenthau's investigation of the notorious brothers, Sam and Charlie Wyly of Texas, the billionaires who spearheaded the Swift Boat disinformation campaign against John Kerry and a similar distortion effort against John McCain in 2000, is focused on a Wyly-controlled Isle of Man off-shore account tied to the Bank of America. In 1989, George H. W. Bush dispatched a Houston attorney to the Isle of Man to take charge of the secret Bush accounts. One of the accounts was Five Star Trust, a multi-billion dollar account used by the Bushes as a covert offshore money tranche for their political and business purposes.

The Class Plaintiff was harmed and damaged in business, person and/or property. The Civil Rights violation caused the Plaintiff harm and damage, anguish, suffering, mental depression, and is the direct and proximate cause why the Plaintiff receives Supplemental Security Income.

The Petitioner is not “mentally ill,” and have a right to own and/or possess firearm, and have a right to claim her gun illegal stolen by DOJ actors. Further there are millions of persons who are “Representative Payees,” manage financial affairs of persons who receive Supplemental Social Security Income, and are “not disabled, and have a right to possess Firearms and/or a gun. The Class Plaintiff is directly affected the Class Plaintiff by the Department of Justice agency, commission or board action of Loretta Lynch and/or Barak H. The members of the class number approximately in 4.2 Million, and the class is therefore so numerous that joinder. The class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impractical, and there are questions of law and/or facts common to the class, and the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or defenses of the class. The representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class. Prosecution of separate actions by or against individual members of the class would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would establish incompatible standards of conduct for the party opposing the class. Also, adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would as a practical matter be dispositive of the interests of the other members not parties to the adjudications or substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests. Barak H. Obama and/or Loretta Lynch has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the class as a whole. The questions of law or fact common to the members of the class predominate over any questions affecting individual members, and a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. An actual controversy has arisen and now exists between plaintiff and defendant Loretta E. Lynch in her official capacity as United States Attorney General and/or “The United States” ex rel Sharon Bridgewater Private Attorney General and/or Qui Tam Relator, concerning their respective rights and duties in that plaintiff. This court is vested with appropriate jurisdiction and power to declare the rights and legal relations of the parties and “The United States et al,” are entitled to the declaration, the declaration to have the force and effect of a final judgment or decree, and to be reviewable as a final judgment or decree.

Meet Europe's Favorite Genocidal Warlord

August 12, 2016 • From theTrumpet.com

The EU's embrace of one of the world's most loathed leaders may be hypocritical, but it has strong strategic reasons for backing him.

Sudanese President Omar al-Bashir is about as much of a pariah as it is possible for a head of state to be. The man seems never to have met a terrorist group he did not like. Bashir invited Osama bin Laden to the country in the 1990s, shipped weapons for Hamas, and invited Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps (irgc) to set up camp.

He's also wanted for war crimes, crimes against humanity, and genocide, and is the first sitting head of state to be indicted by the International Criminal Court.

And he's also the proud recipient of tens of millions of dollars in cash from the European Union.

Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan is not the only unsavory character Europe has turned to in an effort to solve its migrant crisis. Last October, the EU called for more cooperation with Sudan to combat migrant trafficking. Then in April, it announced a $110 million aid package for the nation—paid out of the EU's $2 billion "Emergency Trust Fund for Africa." The money is to be spent on, among other things, "improving security at the borders." The next month, Der Spiegel and the New Statesman reported that the EU would spend $45 million to train border police and provide equipment in Sudan and seven other African countries. "Under no circumstances" should the public learn about this plan, the European Commission warned.

The funds will also help Sudan build "reception centers." "Sudan is effectively being funded to stanch the flow of migrants and refugees to Europe—and to build open-air prisons to house them," wrote Foreign Policy.

In July, the European Commission released a draft proposal that would allow EU developmental aid to finance foreign militaries. Reporting on this change, EU Observer wrote that "Sudan's military may stand to benefit. The Ministry of Interior has asked the EU to help fund border infrastructure at 17 crossing points."

The Rapid Support Forces (rsf) will be the main recipient of the EU's border protection money. "A paramilitary force that supports the beleaguered Sudanese Army, the rsf in particular stands accused of horrific human rights abuses, including extrajudicial killings, torture and mass rape," wrote Foreign Policy. "It was formed in 2013 from elements of the janjaweed, the notorious militias that carried out the government's genocide in Darfur, and answers directly to the National Intelligence and Security Service."

The EU's hypocrisy here is staggering. It will not deport migrants back to Eritrea or Syria because that would violate their human rights. But it is perfectly willing to pay a pal of Osama bin Laden millions of dollars to use a militia implicated in genocide to deport or incarcerate them. Bashir cannot set foot in the EU without being arrested, but Europe's leaders are happy to give him bucket loads of cash. And then they lecture other nations on the humane way to treat migrants.

But there may be more at work here than just the migrant crisis. A rapprochement with Sudan could dramatically improve Europe's position across the region. Sudan used to be Iran's best friend in North Africa. The Sudanese Army was essentially set up by and patterned after the irgc. Conflict Armament Research reported in 2013 that besides "large-scale supplies of weapons and ammunition from Iran to Sudan," there is "growing evidence to suggest that the government of Sudan manufactures weapons of Iranian design, operates weapons production facilities with Iranian assistance, and supplies Iranian-manufactured weapons to forces allied to it in the region.” In 2011, the Telegraph reported that members of Iran’s elite Quds Force were based in Sudan.

Sudan was the vital link between Iran and all kinds of terrorist groups, militias and rogue states across North Africa.

But not anymore. The two best friends have fallen out in recent years. Bashir transferred his allegiance to the Saudi-led bloc of fellow Sunni states. In March 2015, Sudan joined the Saudi-led coalition in Yemen against the Iran-backed Shia Houthi rebels, and in January, Sudan cut off all relations with Iran.

In return for the help in Yemen, Saudi Arabia has reportedly deposited $1 billion into Sudan’s central bank, boosting the nation’s foreign reserves, and stepped up its investment in the nation.

Europe’s generosity may also be aimed at keeping Sudan in the anti-Iran camp.

“Northern Africa is turning into a battleground with enormously important prophetic implications,” wrote Trumpet editor in chief Gerald Flurry in April 2013.

“Iran has designs on being the strongest power throughout the region and is extending its reach throughout North Africa,” he wrote. “But Iran isn’t the only one interested in Africa. Germany is making strong inroads as well. Both of these powers are racing to get as much control of North Africa as they can. They will inevitably clash with each other.”

The Trumpet has long forecast that Europe will seek to contain Iran through a set of alliances in the region. This is exactly what we see in Sudan.

That doesn’t mean Sudan will stick permanently with Europe. Sudan’s move to the Saudi camp is a “relationship of convenience,” as Guardian Unlimited quoted analyst Magdi al-Gizouli saying. “I don’t think there’s a strong ideological commitment,” he said.

“The main driver of foreign relations is the situation of the ‘bank of Sudan,’” he said.

With Iran growing richer in the wake of its nuclear deal, and Saudi Arabia hit by low oil prices, Iran could regain its old friend. But for now, Europe is taking its chance to block Iran in North Africa, despite the character of the leader it has to work with. ▪

Libyan Arab Jamahiriya (Libya)

The Libyan economy depends primarily upon revenues from the oil sector, which contribute about 95% of export earnings, about one-quarter of GDP, and 60% of public sector wages.

Substantial revenues from the energy sector coupled with a small population give Libya one of the highest per capita GDPs in Africa, but little of this income flows down to the lower orders of society. [The World Factbook, U.S.C.I.A. 2009]

Libya is a transit and destination country for men and women from sub-Saharan Africa and Asia trafficked for the purposes of forced labor and commercial sexual exploitation. Migrants typically seek employment in Libya as laborers and domestic employees or transit Libya en route to Europe.

In some cases, smuggling debts and illegal status leave migrants vulnerable to coercion, resulting in cases of forced prostitution and forced labor; employers of irregular migrants sometimes withhold payment or travel documents. As in previous years, there were reports that women from sub-Saharan Africa were trafficked to Libya for the purposes of commercial sexual exploitation. - U.S. State Dept Trafficking in Persons Report, June, 2009 [full country report]

Many of you are aware of the plight of southern Sudanese who are enslaved in Sudan. Most of you are probably not aware that some of these slaves end up in Libya and are sold into bondage. The Libyan government has not put a stop to these practices and, with Libya's dismal human rights record, we are hardly surprised.

Not only does Libya have a long record of supporting international terrorism but Libya has also terrorized its own people through torture, persecution of political opposition, suppression of workers rights, and arbitrary prison detainment of innocent people considered a threat to the state. How can a nation that does not actively prevent the sale of slaves be permitted to chair the UN Commission on Human Rights?

Many would-be migrants are handed over to criminal groups when they enter Libya, according to the report by Amnesty International, published as the European Union prepares to secure a UN mandate for armed action in the country's territorial waters.

The smugglers or criminal groups sometimes hold their charges for ransom, extracting payment through torture, the report says. Those who are unable to pay are often held as slaves.

A 17-year-old boy from Ivory Coast is quoted as saying, when he told his captor that he had no family members left alive to pay a ransom, the beatings intensified and he was told: "You will join them in death if you don't pay."

FACTORS THAT CONTRIBUTE TO THE TRAFFICKING INFRASTRUCTURE - Libya's location on the southern Mediterranean coast makes it an ideal transit country for traffickers or smugglers on their way to Europe. Libya's long and unpoliced desert borders allow people from African countries to be brought into the country undetected, and Libya's 2,000-kilometer northern coastal border allows traffickers direct sea access to Europe.

SAUDIA ARABIA

Human Trafficking & Modern-day Slavery

In the early years of the 21st Century

gvnet.com/humantrafficking/SaudiArabia.htm

Kingdom of Saudi Arabia

Saudi Arabia has an oil-based economy with strong government controls over major economic activities.

About 40% of GDP comes from the private sector. Roughly 6.4 million foreign workers play an important role in the Saudi economy, particularly in the oil and service sectors.

The government is encouraging private sector growth - especially in power generation, telecommunications, natural gas exploration, and petrochemicals - to lessen the kingdom's dependence on oil exports and to increase employment opportunities for the swelling Saudi population, nearly 40% of which are youths under 15 years old. Unemployment is high, and the large youth population generally lacks the education and technical skills the private sector needs. Riyadh has substantially boosted spending on job training and education, infrastructure development, and government salaries. [The World Factbook, U.S.C.I.A. 2009]

Saudi Arabia is a destination country for men and women trafficked for the purposes of involuntary servitude and, to a lesser extent, commercial sexual exploitation. Men and women from Bangladesh, India, Sri Lanka, Nepal, Pakistan, the Philippines, Indonesia, Sudan, Ethiopia, and many other countries voluntarily travel to Saudi Arabia as domestic servants or other low-skilled laborers, but some subsequently face conditions indicative of involuntary servitude, including restrictions on movement, withholding of passports, threats, physical or sexual abuse, and non-payment of wages. Women, primarily from Asian and African countries are also believed to have been trafficked into Saudi Arabia for commercial sexual exploitation; others were reportedly kidnapped and forced into prostitution after running away from abusive employers.

Some Saudi men have also used legally contracted "temporary marriages" in countries such as Mauritania, Yemen, and Indonesia as a means by which to sexually exploit migrant workers. Females as young as seven years old are led to believe they are being wed in earnest, but upon arrival in Saudi Arabia subsequently become their husbands' sexual slaves, are forced into domestic labor and, in some cases, prostitution. - U.S. State Dept Trafficking in Persons Report, June, 2009 [full country report]

American women who have married Saudi nationals and are inside the kingdom along with their female children – some of whom have now reached adult age – are subjected to a situation in which another person or persons have complete control over their lives, with all rights and attributes of "ownership." They were forcibly abducted or kidnapped in clear violation of the laws of other countries and court orders issued by other countries. They were removed from their country to a country beyond the reach of law enforcement and court orders.

These women – which include my adult, American-born daughters – have been hidden away in family compounds for years, deprived of all the choices of basic living, including religion, choice of spouse or age of marriage. They have been denied freedom of movement, freedom of torture, equal rights of women relating to all issues of family rights, the right to education, the right to remedies. Many of them are subjected to wide abuse other than slavery – mental and physical torture, including rape. Their basic human rights in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and other instruments of international human rights law are being sacrificed.

They are kept captive with no hope of ever escaping. Some are told that they can leave, but their children must stay. They must choose between freedom and their children – a "Sophie's Choice" no mother should ever have to make. I have met women who have done just that, and others who hunger for the breath of freedom so badly that they are contemplating doing it – such a high price to pay.

"Examining the American report on human trafficking, we felt that it was misleading ... It contains descriptions, opinions and understandings that are not necessarily true," Turki Al Sudairy, head of the government's Human Rights Commission said in a statement published in Saudi newspapers.

"While we accept that there are some who mistreat (domestic) workers, and this is not acceptable, there are laws that stipulate punishment and the Commission will not hesitate to reveal practices and violations." Around a third of Saudi Arabia's 24 million population are foreign residents, mostly blue-collar workers from Asian countries. Over a million work as housemaids, and reports of abuse are common. Saudi employers often retain their passports.

Sudairy said the authorities had taken stringent measures to regulate the labor market, which he said was subject to abuse by recruitment agencies. He said Saudi Arabia has laws to prevent child labor. "The efforts being exerted have not finished yet and we cannot claim such a thing," Sudairy said.

I have met women who have done just that, and others who hunger for the breath of freedom so badly that they are contemplating doing it – such a high price to pay.

The world must know about this

When 29-year-old Ramani Prianka accepted a job in Saudi Arabia, she thought it would be a pleasant way to earn more money than she could ever make in her native Sri Lanka. After all, she would be working indoors -- as a housemaid -- for a well-to-do, educated Saudi couple. He was the manager of a big hospital; she was the principal of a school.

How tough could it be? Very tough, Prianka quickly discovered. The house had 20 rooms and 13 bathrooms, and Prianka, the only maid, was expected to clean every one every day. There were nine children, and Prianka had to wash all their clothes and cook all their food. Seven days a week, she was up at 4:30 a.m. and never got to bed before midnight. All this for the equivalent of $26 a week.

Last year, at least 2,800 Sri Lankan housemaids ran away from their Saudi sponsors, claiming they had been overworked, sexually abused or physically mistreated by jealous wives. They are among the countless foreign "guest workers" in Saudi Arabia who live and work under conditions that are sometimes compared to modern-day slavery.

Held Against Their Will

John Randall Peacher, Jul 14, 2002, comment on item: Hearing on "Should the United States Do More to Help U.S. Citizens Held against Their Will in Saudi Arabia?" -- www.danielpipes.org/420/hearing-on-should-the-united-states-do-more-to-help-us

Not only should the US Government support and provide assistance to citizens held against their will; but we should examine why we are supporting a dictatorship that is holding MILLIONS of persons against their will. The Kingdom of Saud is guilty of imposing virtual slavery upon the women of Saudi Arabia. Not only American service personnel are victims; and victims they are. Americans, not allowed to have religious observances on holy days, women not allowed to drive or dress as they wish when leaving military bases, not allowed to be in possession of another Holy Book, the Bible.

President Wahid: Slavery Widespread in Saudi Arabia

He expressed concern that many Saudis may treat their Indonesian servants as slaves and sexually harass them. Many Indonesian women who have worked abroad come home with horror stories of being raped and badly treated by their foreign bosses.

But according to Wahid, the Indonesian media often makes inaccurate reports on what goes on in Saudi Arabia. "The media's descriptions created a public perception that our women workers were raped. The situation is not like that. The Saudi people still believe in the old Islamic teaching, which is belief in slavery. So a woman who works for them is considered a slave," he said. For some men in Saudi Arabia, sexual relations with a housemaid are not considered as rape, because they believe that such a practice is permitted by their beliefs, he added.

Wahid also stressed the Saudi government does not believe in slavery, but the practice is still common in society.

In this document Amnesty International highlights the appalling human rights record that Saudi Arabia has had in the past, and how the international business community needs to be aware of the direct impact that Saudi Arabia's record on human rights has on business interests.

Businesses and governments around the world have overlooked the appalling human rights record of Saudi Arabia in the past. One of the arguments being that business interests and requirements are unrelated to human rights. It is time for the international business community to open its eyes.

US Child Sex Slaves In Saudi Arabia

US CHILD SEX SLAVES IN SAUDI ARABIA - We are continuing a limited investigation of the nonparental abductions of US children by Saudi princes. We have interviewed past Saud family palace domestic slaves who have been assigned to care for child sex slaves primarily kidnapped from the US and Northern Europe. It seems procedurally after being routinely processed by the Saudi Arabian Government upon entry the children are immediately brought to the respective palace where they are indoctrinated through a brainwashing practice. The suborning technique through a system of rewards and punishments includes US child sex slaves being given a Saudi name while their US name and religious beliefs are expunged from their mind. If the children use their US name or religious beliefs at any time thereafter, they are severely reprimanded with further conditioning. In tandem, the US State Department policy is that it refuses to investigate US child sex slaves within Middle East unless they are given the US name of the child. - http.

The Plight of Foreign Workers in Saudi Arabia

In November 1998 two Egyptian servants of Saudi Prince Turki bin Abd al-Aziz tied bedsheets together and lowered themselves from the rooms on the 29th floor of the Ramses Hilton where they had been imprisoned, unpaid, for months. The Prince, a full brother of King Fahd, has lived for 16 years on two floors of the five-star Cairo hotel since his expulsion from Saudi Arabia for "embarrassing behavior." The two servants, a butler and a cook, who were seriously injured when they crashed onto a 24th floor balcony, made familiar claims. They had been beaten, they had not been paid in months, and they had been held against their will along with many other servants who were still trapped inside. That these abuses were taking place outside Saudi Arabia was somewhat unusual. Although less publicized, similar occurrences are more common inside Saudi Arabia.

TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS – The government has not taken sufficient measures to improve its performance on trafficking issues, although it did name an official in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs to assume responsibility for trafficking in persons.

Foreign laborers', including domestic workers', passports were often illegally retained by their employers and can sometimes result in forced labor. Foreign nationals who have been recruited abroad have, after their arrival in the country, been presented with work contracts that specified lower wages and fewer benefits than originally promised. A reportedly small number of non-citizen women were thought to engage in prostitution, comprising a minor element of the trafficking problem in the kingdom.

SECTION 6 WORKER RIGHTS – [d] Child beggars were reportedly often non-citizens who had been trafficked into the country for that purpose or are Hajj or Umra over-stayers. The Ministry of Social Affairs maintained special offices in both Mecca and Medina to combat the growing problem of child beggars.

Washington (CNN)The White House is dismissing as "baseless" a controversial report alleging President Barack Obama's administration lied about the circumstances surrounding the 2011 killing of Osama bin Laden.

"There are too many inaccuracies and baseless assertions in this piece to fact check each one," White House National Security spokesman Ned Price said in a statement to reporters.

He took aim specifically at journalist Seymour Hersh's assertion that the administration collaborated with Pakistani officials to kill the al Qaeda leader, saying that "the notion that the operation that killed Usama Bin Ladin was anything but a unilateral U.S. mission is patently false."

"As we said at the time, knowledge of this operation was confined to a very small circle of senior U.S. officials. The President decided early on not to inform any other government, including the Pakistani Government, which was not notified until after the raid had occurred," Price said.

"We had been and continue to be partners with Pakistan in our joint effort to destroy al-Qa'ida, but this was a U.S. operation through and through."

It was the White House's first response to Hersh's stunning report, published this weekend in the London Review of Books, outlining what he describes as the true circumstances surrounding bin Laden's death. Other former administration officials have panned the report as well.

Citing an anonymous "major U.S. source," Hersh writes that the Obama administration cooperated with Pakistani intelligence officials to kill bin Laden, and that the chief of staff of the Pakistani army and director general of the Inter-Services Intelligence Agency knew about the mission, contrary to Obama's claim that Pakistani officials weren't aware of the raid in advance.

A U.S. official with detailed knowledge of the outreach to the Pakistanis after the raid tells CNN that based on the reaction it was clear the Pakistanis did not know in advance

CNN National Security Analyst Peter Bergen immediately rebutted Hersh's allegations in a post that contradicts most of the claims in his 10,000 word report.

The Real Crime of M. Khodorkovsky

January 21, 2011

There is an excellent article on VoltaireNet.org entitled "The Real Crime of M. Khodorkovsky" by F. William Engdahl, which I recommend. In his short article, Engdahl explains how Khodorkovsky was working with George H.W. Bush, Jacob Rothschild, Henry Kissinger, and George Soros to take over the vital oil assets of Russia – in order to destroy Russia as a "functioning state". This plot was clearly not hatched in Washington nor was this being carried out to benefit the American people. The only beneficiaries of this criminal plot were the small group of men behind it.

The astute reader will notice that this is the same group of people who, I contend, are at the highest-level of the global hoax and cover-up of 9/11. I am listed in something called the Encyclopedia of American Loons because my research and findings indicate that these people are the real culprits behind 9/11. As the Encyclopedia says of my thesis : "9-11 was the product of a Zionist conspiracy (in particular organized by the Rothschild family) – the Zionist conspiracy that controls the US government and media." (See "Slaying the Debt Spider")

As Engdahl explains in his article, Khodorkovsky had a contractual agreement with Jacob Rothschild that in the event of his arrest and incarceration, Khodorkovsky's shares of 40 percent of Yukos would belong to Rothschild. This is a pretty good indication of who was financing Khodorkovsky's attempt to take over the vital oil assets of Russia. Khodorkovsky was a Rothschild-funded agent on the front line in the war to plunder Russia. Engdahl explains that Khodorkovsky was working closely with Henry Kissinger, George H.W. Bush, and George Soros, which raises the question of who is the top dog. It's pretty clear that these men are merely senior officers in Rothschild's army, as are the Clintons and Obamas.

As Eustace Mullins wrote in Secrets of the Federal Reserve: The House of Rothschild:

"The fact was that in 1910, the United States was for all practical purposes being ruled from England, and so it is today. The ten largest bank holding companies in the United States are firmly in the hands of certain banking houses, all of which have branches in London. They are J.P. Morgan Company, Brown Brothers Harriman (George H.W. Bush is the son of Prescott Bush, a founding partner of Brown Brothers Harriman), Warburg, Kuhn Loeb and J. Henry Schroder. All of them maintain close relationships with the House of Rothschild, principally through the Rothschild control of international money markets through its manipulation of the price of gold. Each day, the world price of gold is set in the London office of N.M. Rothschild and Company.

"Although these firms are ostensibly American firms, which merely maintain branches in London, the fact is that these banking houses actually take their direction from London. Their history is a fascinating one, and unknown to the American public, originating as it did in the international traffic in gold, slaves, diamonds, and other contraband. There are no moral considerations in any business decision made by these firms. They are interested solely in money and power."

9/11 – THE GLOBAL HOAX

17. When we consider the 9/11 cover-up, we find the former president and C.I.A. director George H.W. Bush and his son the president perfectly placed to block a blue-ribbon investigation and push a pack of lies on the public in order to wage a war of conquest in Afghanistan. Henry Kissinger was President Bush's first choice to chair the 9/11 commission. Kissinger's partner, the late Richard Holbrooke, served as Obama's special envoy to the Afghanistan-Pakistan war until his death last year. The C.I.A. is obviously engaged in the 9/11 deception while it wages its own covert war in the region using the pack of lies it peddles to the public through the controlled media. Remember, the C.I.A. was holding a plane-into-building drill on the very morning of 9/11, which oddly resulted in the employees of the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO) in Chantilly, Virginia being sent home after the first plane struck the World Trade Center. The C.I.A. is clearly not serving the interests of the American people or republic, but simply works on behalf of the people behind the evil plot.

Senator and CIA Insider Accuse Federal Reserve of Covering Up Secret Bankruptcy

By MONEY MORNING STAFF REPORTS

Is the Federal Reserve covering up a dangerous crisis that threatens to bring down, not just the United States, but the entire global economy?

According to two men, one a high-ranking member of the U.S. Intelligence Community, and the other, a 2016 Presidential hopeful, the answer is yes.

They both believe the world's most powerful central bank is secretly bankrupt and Fed Chairwoman Janet Yellen will do whatever it takes to keep the public in the dark about this startling situation.

If they're correct, every American should fear the unavoidable endgame their evidence is predicting.

Recently, in an emotional speech from the Senate floor, Senator Rand Paul declared that the Federal Reserve is now "insolvent."

Controversial Video: Senator Rand Paul accuses the Federal Reserve of being secretly broke

Senator Paul has long been an advocate of an official audit of the Fed's books, which polls show 74% of the American people agree with.

And in a separate statement he explained why.

"The Fed's operations under a cloak of secrecy have gone on too long and the American people have a right to know what the Federal Reserve is doing with our nation's money supply," Senator Paul declared.

And an unlikely ally has stepped forward to help him provide the public with the answers they are seeking.

The Secret Fed Gamble

That Could Kill the Dollar

An alarming pattern has caused many in the Intelligence Community to secretly prepare for a "worst-case scenario." Click here to see it....

Unfortunately, they are downright frightening.

Jim Rickards is the CIA's Financial Threat and Asymmetric Warfare Advisor.

In an exclusive interview with Money Morning, Rickards revealed that he and his team have detected a series of dangerous economic signals that predict a fast-approaching $100 trillion meltdown.

And they believe it will lead to an event more severe than the 1930s.

A 25-year Great Depression.

Their estimated date for this catastrophe is March 16, 2015.

Making matters worse, they believe it is impossible to stop.

Rickards shared an alarming collection of charts in the discussion that proved our country has secretly reached, or exceeded, crisis levels in our stock market, with our dollar, and banking system that are more severe than in 1929.

Frightening: This chart reveals which banks could collapse (and how soon). If your life savings is in a major bank, please look at this now.

He examined two charts in particular that specifically place much of the blame for this on the Federal Reserve.

"What you can see from this first chart is that for over a decade the Federal Reserve steadily grew its capital reserves. Even after the recession struck, on the surface at least, they kept strengthening their financial backing," he explained.

"And today they have over $56.2 billion of cash on hand. $56.2 billion sounds like a lot of money, but it's not the full picture."

"You have to compare the cash the Federal Reserve has on hand with the debt they've taken on since the recession. And when you do the picture becomes a lot scarier, because that figure is $4.3 trillion," Rickards continued.

"So you have $56.2 billion propping up $4.3 trillion worth of debt. That means the Fed is leveraged 77-1. Prior to our 2008 meltdown that was only 22-1."

"To folks like me at the CIA that says one thing, the whole thing is unstable and it's ready to explode," he warned.

Editor's Note: Money Morning has released their exclusive interview with Jim Rickards to the public. And it's a must-see for every American who is concerned about our country and their financial security. Click here to view it.

Rickards then cited two private meetings he held with Federal Reserve officials that suggested they know this too.

"I spoke to a member of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve, (name withheld), and said to her I think the Fed is insolvent," Rickards revealed.

"She refused to answer the question directly initially, but I pressed her and she said, 'we are but it doesn't matter'."

Rickards' second meeting explained why this high-ranking Fed board member came to that conclusion.

"I was at a recent conclave in the Rocky Mountains with officials from the Federal Reserve and the Bank of England. They'll say things in private that they won't admit publicly," Rickards explained.

"They handed me a copy of Janet Yellen's playbook. And while a lot of Americans have no idea what her big plans are, this playbook revealed everything. It's more of the same. She's going to just keep printing money."

"Don't ever think the Fed knows what they're doing. They can print all the money they want, but if people aren't using it in the economy than it is going to collapse."

What makes Rickards' and Paul's alliance so unusual is that Senator Paul is no fan of the CIA.

Details of Government's

"Day After Plan" Emerge

Warning: Emergency measures have already been put "in play" for this 25-year Great Depression.

Click here to continue....

During a marathon, 13-hour filibuster he successfully halted the appointment of the new director of the Central Intelligence Agency. He cited the public's need to be made aware of the White House and intelligence community's use of drones as the reason for his actions.

However, this has not stopped Rickards and Paul from uniting on what Rickards believes is the greatest threat to our country.

In fact, in a Treasury meeting, Rickards accused both the Fed and Treasury of being more dangerous to the United States' national security than Al-Qaeda or any rival nation.

And Senator Paul has cited Rickards' work in numerous speeches and in his official budget proposal for the year where he warned that our central bank was leading us towards a "Roman Empire-like collapse."

Which is a conclusion that Rickards and many of his colleagues agree with.

A startling report containing the consensus view of all 16 branches of the U.S. Intelligence Committee has revealed that these agencies have begun to estimate the impact of "The fall of the dollar as the global reserve currency."

And our reign as the leading superpower being annihilated in a way "equivalent to the end of the British Empire in the post-World War II period."

The question we should all be asking ourselves now is "what if they're right?"

Editor's Note: For a limited time, you can view Rickards' interview and claim a free copy of his New York Times best selling book, The Death of Money. Click here to continue...

(Before It's News)

The news has been broke, the world banks have been legally and officially foreclosed on. Yes, reread what you have just read, the world banks have been legally foreclosed on. The Federal Reserve, The Hague, The World Bank, The United Nations, The IMF, the BIS (Bank of International Settlements), and many others are included.

Now this news hasn't hit mainstream media, for obvious reasons. Mass hysteria, media agreements with governments, and economic implications. A group called "The One People's Public Trust" released an "announcement", a document stating they had a person on the inside gathering information for them. There is a passage that reads, " The people, all people equally on earth have an individual, duly verified sum certain of 5 billion, in lawful money of the United States of America gold and silver. Over 3 quintillion, 500 quadrillion, (which, by the way is a 3 and a 5 followed by 17 zeros) just and duly verified equity debt against the debtors. There is an additionally duly verified sum of 5 billion in lawful money of the United States of America, gold and silver, for each of those people damaged by the actions and systems of the debtors, over 3 quadrillion lawful money of the United States of America, gold and silver, in duly verified debt of damages against the debtors.”

Fanny Mae and/or Freddie Mac is a private, shareholder-owned company, is in charge of secondary mortgage market and makes funds available for lenders to make loans more affordable for home buyers which funds are made available through two processes. The first is through Fannie Mae’s and/or Freddie Mac purchases of mortgage loans directly from lenders and other mortgage sellers and/or banks(JP Morgan Chase, Bank of America ie) and assembles pools of mortgages acquired from lenders and issuing Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS), which lenders and sellers then hold or sell to investors and allows to homeownership for millions of first-time homebuyers via HUD “requirements” which authorizes affordable housing for low- and moderate-income housing goal, an underserve areas housing goal, and a special affordable housing goal.

The following are some key extracts from Engdahl's article, which can be read in its entirety with links at: <http://www.voltairenet.org/article168007.html>

"At the time of his arrest Khodorkovsky was in the process of negotiating via his Carlyle friend George H.W. Bush, father of the then-President George W. Bush, the sale of 40 percent of Yukos to either Condi Rice's former company, Chevron, or ExxonMobil in a move that would have dealt a crippling blow to the one asset left Russia and Putin to use for the rebuilding of the wrecked Russian economy: oil and export via state-owned pipelines to the West for dollars."

The final decision in the Russian trial against former oil oligarch Mikhail Khodorkovsky has drawn dramatic statements of protest from the US Obama Administration and governments around the world labeling Russian justice as tyrannical and worse. What is carefully omitted from the Khodovkorsky story however is the true reason Putin arrested and imprisoned the former head of Russia's largest private oil giant, Yukos.

Mikhail Khodorkovsky's real crime was not stealing Russia's assets for a pittance in the bandit era of Yeltsin. His real crime is that he was a key part of a Western intelligence operation to dismantle and destroy what remains of Russia as a functioning state. When the facts are known the justice served on him is mild by comparison to US or UK standard treatment of those convicted of treason against the state. Obama's torture prison at Guantánamo is merely one example of Washington's double standard. ...

Prior to his arrest in 2003 Khodorkovsky (in the photo with first Russian President Boris Yeltsin) funded several Russian parties, including the Communist Party, most of which were in competition with each other. In an auction run by his own bank, Khodorkovsky paid $309 million for Yukos. In 2003 the same company was assessed as worth $45 billion ($45,000,000,000 or 145 times the purchase price), and not owing to Khodorkovsky's management genius.

With his new billions in effect stolen from the Russian people, he made some powerful friends. He set up a foundation modeled on US billionaire George Soros' Open Society, calling it the Open Russia Foundation. He invited two powerful Westerners to its board—Henry Kissinger and Jacob Lord Rothschild. Then he set about to develop ties with some of the most powerful circles in Washington where he was named to the Advisory Board of the secretive private equity firm, Carlyle Group where he attended board meetings with fellow advisors such as George H.W. Bush and James Baker III.

Jacob Rothschild was Khodorkovsky's key partner...

along with Rothschild's high-level agents Henry Kissinger, George Bush, and the late Richard Holbrooke.

However, the real crime that landed Khodorkovsky behind Russian bars was the fact that he was in the middle of making a US-backed coup d'état to capture the Russian presidency in planned 2004 Russian Duma elections. Khodorkovsky was in the process of using his enormous wealth to buy enough seats in the coming Duma elections that he could change Russian laws regarding ownership of oil in the ground and of pipelines transporting same. In addition he planned to directly challenge Putin and become Russian President. As part of the horse trade that won Putin the tacit support of the wealthy so-called Russian Oligarchs, Putin had extracted agreement that they be allowed to hold on to their wealth provided they repatriate a share back into Russia and provided they not interfere in domestic Russian politics with their wealth. Most oligarchs agreed, as did Khodorkovsky at the time. They remain established Russian businessmen. Khodorkovsky did not.

Moreover, at the time of his arrest Khodorkovsky was in the process of negotiating via his Carlyle friend George H.W. Bush, father of the then-President George W. Bush, the sale of 40% of Yukos to either Condi Rice's former company, Chevron or ExxonMobil in a move that would have dealt a crippling blow to the one asset left Russia and Putin to use for the rebuilding of the wrecked Russian economy: oil and export via state-owned pipelines to the West for dollars. During the ensuing Russian state prosecution of Yukos, it came to light that Khodorkovsky had also secretly made a contract with London's Lord Rothschild not merely to support Russian culture via the Open Russia Foundation of Khodorkovsky. In the event of his possible arrest (Khodorkovsky evidently knew he was playing a high-risk game trying to create a coup against Putin) the 40% share of his Yukos stocks would pass into the hands of Lord Rothschild.

The crocodile tears of Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama for the violations of Khodorkovsky's human rights hide a far deeper agenda that is not being admitted. Washington used the Russian to try to reach its goal of totally destroying the only power left on the earth with sufficient military strike power to challenge the Pentagon's Full Spectrum Dominance strategy—control of the entire planet. When seen in that light the sweet loaded words “human rights” take on a quite different meaning.

OMBSHELL: Nancy Pelosi Busted in Huge Corruption Scandal

August 16, 2014

Lord Acton famously said that power corrupts, and some Democrats have been in power for long enough in Washington that, if they weren't already corrupt when they were elected, they are beginning to show that they are now.

Numerous calls for investigation into Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid's finances have been made in recent years. Former Obama Labor Secretary Hilda Solis has been accused of Hatch Act violations. A large number of Democratic donors have come under investigation as well, both for illegal campaign contributions and other alleged criminal acts.

Now House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi can add her name to the list of Washington Democrats under suspicion of breaching the public trust.

A new report from the Washington Free Beacon indicates that Pelosi is thought to have enriched herself and her husband, Paul, through her efforts to “steer taxpayer funds” to a San Francisco-area light rail project.

Pelosi's support for the project caused local real estate prices to escalate such that a large parcel of land owned by "high-dollar Democratic donor" Marc Benioff's company may have received a huge profit upon selling it to the Golden State Warriors. Pelosi's husband is also a significant investor in the company.

Pelosi has been pushing for taxpayer subsidies for the rail project for over ten years, and that project has done much to boost the real estate market in the area, experts say.

The report says that "liberal billionaire hedge fund manager" Tom Steyer may also have been further enriched through Pelosi's efforts to provide federal subsidies to the project.

Power does corrupt, and not only on the Democratic side of the aisle. That's why the Founders created checks and balances throughout the government. However, for anyone to remain in Congress for as long as some members have—close to thirty years for both Reid and Pelosi—amassing power, influence, and wealth, was not a consideration the Founders envisioned or planned for.

There is an easy solution, however: term limits. They won't eliminate corruption—unfortunately, human nature will still be with us—but they can mitigate its effects, and that's a good place to start.
