GROUNDS

Wherever there is a treaty or convention for extradition between the United States and any foreign government, or in cases arising under section 3181(b), any justice or judge of the United States, or any magistrate judge authorized so to do by a court of the United States, or any judge of a court of record of general jurisdiction of any state may upon complaint made under oath, charging any person found within his jurisdiction of any such foreign Government, of any crimes provided for by such treaty or convention, or provided for under section 3181(b), issue his warrant for the apprehension of the person so charged, that he may be brought before such justice, judge, or magistrate judge, to the end that the evidence of criminality may be heard and considered. Such complaint may be filed before such warrant may be issued by a judge or magistrate judge of the United States District Court of Columbia if the whereabouts with the United States of the person charged are known or if there is reason to believe the person will shortly enter the United States. If, on such hearing, He deems evidence sufficient to sustain the charge under provisions of the proper treaty or convention, or under section 3181, he shall certify the same, together with a copy of all the testimony taken before him, to the secretary of the State, that a warrant may issue upon the requisition of the proper authorities of such foreign government, for the surrender of such person, according to the stipulation of the treaty or convention; and he shall issue his warrant for the commitment of the person so charged to the proper jail, there to remain until such surrender shall be made.
